AT LEAST 50 PERSONS ARE KILLED OR INJURED IN HERCULES BLASTS

Explosions Occur in New Jersey

Tremors in Munitions Tragedy Are Felt in This City About 1:30 P. M.

Can't Keep Count

Hospital Says It Can't Count Casualties; Fire Breaks Out

Dover, N. J., Sept. 12 (P)—Observers said "at least 50" casualties were brought to Dover General Hospital this afternoon after two explosions in quick succession at the Hercules Powder Plant at Kenil, five miles away.

Hospital attendants said the casualties were so numerous "we can't keep track of them."

Reports from Kenil said fire had broken out at the plant and was raging so severely that firemen could not combat it.

Col. Mark O. Kimberling, New Jersey state police superintendent, said over 100 persons were reported injured.

Long distance operators at Newark reported that telephone communication with Kenil, a town of slightly more than 900 population, was cut off.

Police said two heavy blasts were felt at 12:30 p. m. (EST) which broke windows in several homes. At Lake Hopatcong, house-holders reported that houses shook with the tremors.

Dover hospital attendants said all available doctors, nurses and ambulances had been called out. State police officials sent 25 troopers to the scene.

The Hercules powder plant employs 220 persons in the manufacture of dynamite and smokeless powder.

The explosion was heard all through Westchester county, just above New York city, and some 50 miles from where the blast occurred.

Telephone switchboards were swamped with calls from persons who heard the explosion and felt the earth tremble.

Even in Kingston and Poughkeepsie there were persons who felt earth tremors between 12:35 and 12:39 p. m., E. S. T. Numerous calls of inquiry were put through to the office of the Kingston Daily Freeman.

Windows were knocked out of a train at Harmon, N. Y., and plaster fell from walls at Tarrytown.

The New York state police barracks at Hawthorne said that they heard five blasts, and that reports of pictures being knocked from walls had reached them from Poughkeepsie.

The shocks were so great they were registered on the seismograph at Fordham University in New York. Fordham said the first shock was at 11:08 a. m. (E. S. T.), a second at 12:29 p. m. The instruments indicated they were under-ground blasts, rather than earthquakes.

Quick 'O.K.' On Draft Is Seen Near

Conscription Would Be for Men From Ages 21 to 35 in Latest Compromise

Proposal Loses

House 60-Day Delay Is Scuttled; Age Issue Settled

Washington, Sept. 12 (P)—Quick enactment of peacetime conscription for men from 21 through 35 was believed near today as a joint Senate and House committee met to draft its report on a compromise compulsory military training bill.

The report will go to both houses for final action, and the congressional consensus was that it would be promptly accepted—perhaps before the week-end.

Scuttling a House provision for a 60-day delay in the draft, and compromising differences on the vital question of age limits, the six senators and five House members reached an agreement last night on a common version of the legislation which both branches of Congress previously approved in different forms.

The Senate had fixed the age bracket at from 21 through 30, the House from 21 through 44. At the suggestion of Senator Thomas (D., Utah) the conferees made the maximum age 35.

Thus, when and if the bill finally becomes law, approximately 16,500,000 men will be called upon to register for service. When the physically unfit, those with dependents and those who hold essential jobs in industry or agriculture are weeded out, army officials estimated 5,000,000 men would be eligible for a year's intensive training.

May Call Any Age
President Roosevelt may call these, it was explained in any age class of the 16,500,000 is expected to take place within 15 days after Congress makes funds available and the first contingent of 75,000 probably would be inducted into service shortly after October 15.

The measure approved by the conferees after two days of work provided also for commandeering industry if that should become necessary in a national crisis. Revising a House provision, the conferees provided in general that the government might take over, on a rental basis, plants where the owner refused to give preference to government orders or refused to manufacture defense materials.

The revised section, however, hedged this power about with the restriction that before such drastic action could be taken the President must first find that "public danger is immediate, imminent and impending, and the emergency in the public service is extreme and imperative."

No Other Similar Source
Also, he must find that there was no other similar source of supply. Subsequently, the plant owner would have the right to sue the government if he felt that the compensation paid him was unsatisfactory.

The conferees' action in striking out a House-approved clause to delay conscription for 60 days while attempts were made to fill the army's quota with voluntary enlistments seemed to hold almost the only prospect for compromise between the two bodies.

The House previously had voted 207 to 200 on a roll call to put off the draft for 60 days. Leaders there nevertheless said they were confident that the House finally would accept the conference action, if merely because the entire report must be either accepted or rejected, without any separate vote on the delay clause.

Chairman Sheppard (D., Tex.) of the conferees said the committee's report would be submitted to the Senate during the day. He indicated, however, that it was unlikely that it would be passed.

Exemption of conscientious objectors was a subject of discussion. (Continued on Page 14)

King and Queen View Damage at Buckingham Palace

While Nazi sources in Berlin threatened to dump 10,000 plane-loads of bombs each day on the London area, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of England (in background) inspected damage to Buckingham Palace done by a German time bomb. The palace, which fell Sunday but did not explode until Tuesday, damaged one corner of the palace but did not injure anyone, according to British sources. Picture by cable from London.

Spafford and Bissell Lay Stress On Americanism at Legion Rally

Draft Provisions Of Bill Approved For Both Houses

Committee Will Submit Measure to Senate and House for Final Votes

Washington, Sept. 12 (P)—The peacetime conscription bill approved by a joint Senate and House committee for submission to the two bodies for their final action provides for:

Registration of all male citizens and aliens who have reached their 21st birthday anniversary but have not passed their 36th on a registration day to be fixed. (Members and former members of the armed forces, diplomatic representatives, and legislative, executive and judicial officers, would be excepted.)

Liability for a year's training of all male citizens, and aliens who have declared their intention of becoming citizens, in this age group.

Voluntary enlistments, regardless of race or color, of all men from 18 to 34 years old, inclusive.

Limit of 900,000 men on the number of conscripts to be in training for the army at any one period in peacetime.

Restriction on the service of conscripts to the western hemisphere, American possessions and the Philippine Islands.

Regular army pay for conscripts, the army's basic pay being increased from $21 to $30 a month.

Assignment of each trainee, after his year's service is completed, to a reserve organization with subsequent short retraining periods for 10 years or until he becomes 35 years old, except that he may satisfy this requirement by two years additional service in the National Guard or army.

Impartial Selection
Selection of trainees on impartial basis, with state quotas fixed on male population basis.

Spafford Talks About Defense, Bissell of Sole 'Is'm' Vital to Americans

Americanism and its preservation by proper defense were stressed by the two principal speakers heard by a crowd of local people who filled the municipal auditorium to capacity for the American Legion's patriotic rally last night.

Defense was the major keynote of a talk by Edward E. Spafford, former national commander of the American Legion who made it an issue from the viewpoint of a Legionnaire and it was again stressed by Pelham St. George Bissell, President of the Municipal Court, New York city who declared that Americanism is the only "ism" with which the nation is now concerned.

Following the parade led by the American Legion Drum Corps and participated in by the Legion Post, firemen, service clubs, Boy Scouts and civic bodies of all kinds and which passed along a Broadway lined with double rows of cars filled with people, while thousands stood along the walks and occupied every possible point of vantage, a crowd poured into the Auditorium that soon filled every available seat and took up all permissible standing room. It was estimated that at least two thousand persons were present when the Junior (Continued on Page Three)

Revised Profit Tax Bill Reaches Upper House for Action

Provisions Are Included to Provide Speedier Defense Plan; Vote of Group, 14-7

Washington, Sept. 12 (P)—A much revised excess profits tax bill, carrying provisions designed to speed up the national defense program, reached the Senate calendar today on a 14 to 7 vote of the Senate finance committee.

The committee, splitting chiefly along partisan lines, approved the measure late yesterday despite last-minute objections made by Secretary Morgenthau and other treasury officials to some of its provisions.

Chairman Harrison (D., Miss.) told reporters that the bill, which already has passed the House in different form, probably would be taken up in the Senate tomorrow, and would be passed "just as quickly as I can get a little steam behind it."

As approved by the committee, the bill contained these principal provisions:

A 3.1 per cent increase in normal corporate tax rate.

Italy Says Subs Prey In Atlantic

High Command Also Says Raid on Aden Nets Two British Destroyers

Libya Attacked

British Planes Damage Italian Airports and Docks

Rome, Sept. 12 (P)—Italy declared today that her submarine army had reached into the Atlantic Ocean to prey on British shipping, crediting one boat with sinking 27,000 tons in a single voyage beyond the Strait of Gibraltar.

The high command's communique also claimed that in a raid on Aden, British base at the entrance to the Red Sea, at the other extreme of Italy's battle front, two British destroyers were sunk by air bombing September 1 and 2.

The communique declared Italian bombers had smashed again at British troops and supply depots along the Egyptian coast and acknowledged the British had raided the harbor of Derna, in Libya.

Major Action Impends
Apparently both Italy and Britain are preparing for major action on the Libyan-Egyptian frontier, either planning to take the offensive or fearful of a drive by the opposition.

The Italians said bombing of a British supply dump at Sidi Barrani, Egypt, caused fires and explosions. In addition, the communique said, English armored cars were scattered by bombing and machine-gunning, and railroad works on the Egyptian coast were bombed.

"An enemy plane of the Blenheim type was shot down, and another probably was shot down," the Italians reported. "One of our planes failed to return."

Italian anti-aircraft fire drove off British planes attempting a raid on Derna, Libya, the communique said.

The Italians also claimed two British destroyers were sunk during the raid.

Willkie Says F.D.R. Policies Clumsy

Says Under His Leadership U. S. Can't but Fail in World Struggle

Rushville, Ind., Sept. 12 (P)—Describing President Roosevelt's handling of foreign affairs as "clumsy," Wendell L. Willkie said today that "the United States cannot but fail in the present world struggle under such leadership."

In a statement issued just before going to Indianapolis for a conference with other Republican leaders, the presidential candidate made this comment on Mr. Roosevelt's address last night.

"I have never felt so encouraged about the outcome of the election as I did after listening to Mr. Roosevelt's speech last night."

"If the American people have any sense of realism of the condition of the world in which they are living, they will reject overwhelmingly a president who preaches such class conscious and economic sabotage doctrines as were preached last night."

Planes Bombard Heart of Berlin; Defense Tightens

Blasting Thrusts Strike in Berlin's 'Central Park,' Anhalter Station, Templehof Airdrome; Barrage Guns Repulse Aircraft

London, Sept. 12 (P)—Britain struck repeated blows at Germany to ward off immediate invasion today, aiming blasting air attacks at railway stations and yards in the heart of Berlin and the Templehof Airdrome, while London's defenders beat off with a "blitz barrage" hundreds of Nazi warplanes which struck in the night with the heaviest attack of the war.

Anhalter railway station and yards and other yards near Potsdam station were lit by flares and then straddled by heavy explosives, the air ministry said.

Anti-aircraft batteries in Berlin's Tiergarten, only a stone's throw from German government buildings, were silenced by salvos of bombs, the ministry said.

Another raid reported it dropped explosive and incendiary bombs over the Templehof Airdrome, Berlin's main airport.

The Anhalter station is near Potsdam station, which the British said yesterday was hit repeatedly. A 12-hour respite from German raiders was broken at 4:39 p. m. (10:39 a. m. E. S. T.) today when appearances of warplanes set off London's first aid alarm of the day. British anti-aircraft opened up again and, after an hour and two minutes, the city was given the "all clear."

Britons hailed as a great victory the repelling of the night attack on London, which apparently was attempted by the greatest number of planes yet sent against the city.

German raiders, coming in unprecedented numbers of the fifth night of their "destroy London" attack, bombed two hospitals, many houses and small factories in the southern part of the city, but failed to reach important objectives and were thrown back by a fierce anti-aircraft fire which turned the September night into a ghastly, roaring thunderstorm.

Loudest Night Barrage
Military circles hailed the night's barrage, based on new methods of prediction of the flight of planes, as a "success."

It was the loudest ever heard in London in all the months of raiding, and threw up a veritable curtain of exploding steel through which few German bomber crews dared dive. Many of those who did dare, were trapped, these sources said.

While ground batteries and fighters blasted at the hundreds of planes, the Royal Air Force poured its own tons of explosives on German objectives.

The air ministry said the Anhalter railway station and tracks and other yards in the heart of Berlin, and the Templehof airdrome, Germany's biggest airport, were bombed. The Anhalter station which the British yesterday said they had hit directly many times.

Light naval forces, aided by bombers and coastal rifles, also were disclosed to have hammered at Germany's "invasion ports" on the continent.

Although the London barrage reduced to about 20 the number of bombs dropped in the central city, it was disclosed that "Fleet street," a central area in which are published London's newspapers which long have lambasted Adolf Hitler and Nazism, has been bombed and the offices of the Daily Herald and Evening Standard damaged.

Bugs, Say Nazis

British Are Dumping Pest to Destroy Potato Crop; Says It's Unfair

Berlin Sept. 12 (P)—Authorized German sources charged today that British airmen are throwing bags of "Colorado potato bugs" into potato fields in Germany, Luxembourg and Belgium in an effort to lay waste the major food source of those countries.

These sources said the bugs multiply rapidly and are hard to control. They cited this alleged form of attack as another "example of British unfairness."

Two days ago a similar charge was made that the British are throwing millions of self-igniting "leaves"—made of phosphorus and gun-cotton—to cause fires in German fields and forests. (The British admitted they were using the "leaves.")

The British deny the bug charge.

In thirty years of church socials and club meetings, you come across all kinds of tea... but none so good as LIPTON'S TEA. That rich, full LIPTON flavor just beats any tea I've ever tasted.

I feel more sympathy for the government every time we vote on Sunday dinner ice cream. Allus the same deadlock—five wartin' chocolate, the rest holdin' out for vanilla.

Praise be, you can allus get a unanimous vote on LIPTON'S TEA! They all go for that wonderful flavor, and I go for the economy, too. Why, LIPTON'S costs less than half a cent a cup!

Wanna Stay in Bed Tomorrow? If Superstitious, You'd Better

(P) Feature Service Writer

Tomorrow is Friday the Thirteenth.

Some people are so superstitious about it they won't get out of their beds, and maybe it's just as well. If they did, there would be a good chance something would happen to them. Science says so. "Science doesn't take any stock in superstitions," says Dr. Lawrence W. Miller of the University of Denver, a psychologist well versed in the reasons behind human behavior.

"Nevertheless, if you are desperately fearful something is going to happen to you on Friday the Thirteenth, it is well to stay in bed."

"You may be so upset you'll be off your guard or you may concentrate so deeply on one fear that your alertness to other dangers will be diminished."

"Something entirely different from what you had expected and planned a defense against may happen and take you unawares. Thus trouble catches up with you on Friday the Thirteenth."

Some superstitions, according to Dr. Miller, are good for people. "There were superstitions about crime, adultery and property rights in olden times," says Dr. Miller. "For instance, the ghost of the victim was supposed to inhabit a murderer's soul and torment it."

"Such beliefs tended to restrain murderous or criminal inclinations at a time when there were neither laws nor policemen."

Only A Guess
Many superstitions are dated so far in antiquity nothing authentic is known of their origin. It's only a guess how many modern ones were started.

"Some students say the common superstition that it is bad luck to light three on a match had its origin in recent wars," says Dr. Miller.

"If a soldier lighted his cigarette and kept the match burning long enough for two or more other men to get a light, enemy sharpshooters had time to take careful aim and fire upon the match holder."

People who knock on wood to keep ill luck from intruding, usually after they have made a boast, are observing a ritual that once was a religious one.

Form Of Supplication

"In ancient times pious peoples touched a wooden cross as a form of application," says Dr. Miller.

"It was a prayer. They believed the cross cast a spell of good fortune about them. And so knocking on wood became an invitation to good luck."

The horseshoe probably is a sign of good luck because the horse has been a friend of man, Dr. Miller says.

Other things, like four-leaf clovers, are good luck symbols because a series of coincidences probably occurred in which a person had good luck immediately after he found, or otherwise had some association with, a four-leaf clover or other object.

From Days Of Black Magic

Similarly cats and witches are symbols of ill luck. Incidentally, says Dr. Miller, the black cat superstition dates back to the age of black magic when darkness was a symbol of eerie things. People looked askance at anything black.

In one state a recent study disclosed 4,000 superstitions held by various citizens.

Double Trouble

For the superstitious there's a double dose of ill luck on Friday the Thirteenth. Both Friday and 13 are associated with the gods.

Friday probably became an omen of death because of its association with the crucifixion. The numeral 13 probably first became a similar omen because of the thirteen people, Christ and the 12 apostles, seated at the last supper.

Turns Into Realism

Minneapolis (AP)—Jean Margaret Swain, a University of Minnesota co-ed, obtained an airplane pilot's license under the Civil Aeronautics Authority program after inserting a bit of realism that wasn't in the curriculum.

Miss Swain's final test required that she make a forced landing. At 3,000 feet she was preparing for the stunt when the plane's motor stopped dead. She glided onto the landing field without crackup or injury.

Spafford, Bissell Urge Americanism

Crowd Salutes Colors

The big crowd rose and stood at salute as color guards advance the colors and placed them in position at either side of the stage, following which the invocation was given by the Rev. William McDonald, chaplain of Kingston Post.

Commander Martin then presented Past Commander Herman I. Du Bois, chairman of the rally and who was given credit for the fine work he had done in making the gathering such an overwhelming success. Mr. DuBois presided during the further exercises of the evening and first introduced Legionnaire Bugler Frank M. Sass, who sounded taps in memory of deceased Legion comrades. During this ceremony lights were turned off and the audience stood at attention.

Chairman DuBois then presented "our own Legionnaire, Conrad J. Heiselman, mayor of Kingston." The mayor said that he felt it was a grand privilege to welcome such a gathering, met under such circumstances. He found the sight an inspiring one and congratulated the Post for instituting the movement, which was being participated in by so many organizations which upheld the same principles of Americanism as did the Legion.

Saying that he heartily endorsed the movement the mayor remarked that it was timely that the citizens of Kingston met together to "pledge anew our allegiance to our beloved country, and our lives, if necessary, in its defense. Never in our history," he continued, "has it been more important to take stock of ourselves, our neighbors and our public servants."

Urges Determination

In an address that was punctuated with frequent applause as he urged courageous determination,

"Before we can properly prepare ourselves to successfully meet any possible threat to our homes, our liberties, our institutions and our lives, we must be strengthened spiritually and morally to meet any emergency that may arise. Guns, planes, tanks and battle-ships are necessary for national defense. But equally necessary are faith in our form of government; courage and energy to resist any change in our American form of government; faith in the destiny of America; a stiffening of the national backbone and a steeling of the national will that nothing will be permitted to swerve us from the paths that lead to justice, freedom and democracy.

"America is founded upon faith in God. The first requisite of our national program of moral rearmament should be a universal application of religious teachings to our private, business and public life.

"America stands for universal peace. We should therefore learn to live peacefully together in tolerance and brotherly love, in the fields of industry and trade; which furnish us the necessities of life; as neighbors of our city and citizens of our state and nation. There must always be opportunities in America for the free expression of differences in opinion. But we must examine these differences in the light of reason, logic and justice and not in passion, or prejudice. This is the time for national unity. Matters must be decided for the safety of America not on personalities, nor for reasons of personal selfishness, but for the welfare of our country.

"America was founded by men of great courage and wisdom, thirsting for liberty and freedom. America was built by hard work, love and sacrifice. We should recapture the courageous spirit of the pioneers and re-discover the greatness of America; we should re-dedicate ourselves to the service of America and give our country every ounce of loyalty and service of which we are capable, not thinking of our personal reward but only that we love our country and that our country needs us.

"America has always been known as the land of the free and the home of the brave. This is the time for all citizens to be constantly on guard against those who would rob us of our freedom, be they Americans or foreigners within our gates who seek to import an alien form of government to America. This is the time for men in public places to be forthright, truthful, honest and courageous. This is not time for using weasel words or for political pussy-footing. The safety of America is much more important than the election or defeat of any candidate for political office. This is the time for citizens to determine facts and on the basis of these facts to be brave enough to boldly express their opinions as to what is necessary to insure the safety of America. Like Abraham Lincoln, we should stand like a rock against any foe which attacks, either openly or covertly, the American principle that government of the people, for the people and by the people shall not perish from the earth.

"There is a popular and inspiring song, now sung with much fervor by many of our citizens. The song calls on God to Bless America. I say that God has blessed America. Let's not expect God to do all the work. Let us individually do our full share to build, improve, serve, protect and save America by living close to God, by being good fathers and mothers, sons and daughters, brothers and sisters, neighbors and friends; employers, employees, voters, citizens and public servants.

"We are met here today on an epochal occasion. Men and women in all walks of life are here tonight because they love their native land; they are here to pledge anew their allegiance to America. Thank you all for coming. I am proud of you.

"Now that we have come together, let's work together for the welfare of the city and the land we love. Let's be ready to serve this land we love and if the need arises, to die for the land we love. Only by such love, by such patriotism, by such a spirit of service and sacrifice can America endure against the evil and destructive forces which are now operating to destroy democracy throughout the world."

Singing and Pledge

At the conclusion of the mayor's welcoming address Paul A. Zucca, the Junior Legion Band accompanying, led the audience in singing a verse of the Star Spangled Banner; Thomas B. F. Coughlin led in giving the pledge of allegiance to the flag and then Zucca led the assembly in singing two verses of America.

The part the American Legion Auxiliary can play in the defense program was discussed by Mrs. Sam N. Mann, president-elect of the Auxiliary.

Introducing her talk, Mrs. Mann said: "The women of America stand side by side and shoulder to shoulder with the men of America in a concerted effort to uphold ideals of American democracy which have been handed down to us as a heritage by the valiant men and women who founded this country and built it into the great nation which it is today. The forces which seek to undermine our present American standards and ideals are the bitterest enemies to the way of life we cherish and hold dear. Only by a united effort on the part of all loyal Americans, men and women alike, can these insidious forces be uprooted and their alien doctrines repudiated on every hand."

In routing these forces, and in the battle against the "Fifth Column," Mrs. Mann found the first goal to be "the inoculation of American ideals into the hearts and the minds of their children. The spirit of tolerance, the love of liberty and the desire for justice which have characterized the American way must be taught by both word and deed. It is the first duty of American women to teach patriotism, love of country, respect for the flag and for the institutions of America. The best teaching is done by example, and for that reason it is vitally important that the American women play in ourselves the same qualities of patriotism which we would inculcate in our children."

Then, too, the speaker found that today, granted the franchise, women share an equal responsibility with men in guiding the destiny of the country politically and economically. She urged them to be alert regarding the events of these hectic times to be aware of the issues of the day, consider the import of world events and in the light of calm, cool reflection make up their minds as to the course the country should follow. "There must be no harking to the clarion call of demagogues, no giving in to the dictates of a whipped-up emotion, no yielding to hysteria."

As to fighting the menace of the "Fifth Column" the speaker said: "One thing that we can do is to reiterate again and again the doctrines which are the foundation of American liberty. We can contrast the ways of life in our country with life under the iron rule of dictatorship. We can fight for the preservation of free American institutions and refuse to yield to the blandishments of our enemies who seek only to divide and confuse us. We can repudiate such false doctrines as racial superiority and demonstrate the tolerance for all colors, races, and creeds for which this country was originally founded. We can insist on doing our own thinking instead of letting some demagogue do it for us. We can insist on a free press, on free speech, on freedom of assembly and freedom of religion. We can refuse to let our enemies divide us by appeals to class hatred or religious or racial intolerance."

Mrs. Mann's talk was received with applause as she concluded with the statement that "The women of America are ready to show the world that they are worthy of their heritage of democracy."

Three Points Discussed

County Americanism, County Mobilization and Kingston Post Mobilization were each discussed briefly by their respective chairmen, Robert C. Isemann, Harry L. Kirchner and Joseph Sills. It was brought out that the ten American Legion Posts in Ulster county, with a membership of about 1,000, have perfected, or are in the process of perfecting, plans for emergency mobilization. "Contrary to belief of some individuals," it was stated, "our mobilization plan will not be used except in case of emergency and then only under the direction of the forces of law and order, such as the sheriff or the police."

Two notable addresses, filled with food for thought, concluded the evening's program. They were given by Past National Commander...

General Pershing Will Be 80 Friday

A.E.F. Commander Enjoys
Excellent Health, Plans
Arduous Day

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing is going to get a good night's sleep tonight for tomorrow will be a crowded day—it's his 80th birthday anniversary.

In better health than in many years, the doughty commander of the American Expeditionary Forces plans to leave his comfortable suite, his reading and his writings and make one of his rare appearances at his war department offices.

Last year the general spent his birthday in Walter Reed Hospital receiving a physical checkup.

The year before he was in Aix-en-Provence, France, up and about but his health "too delicate" to attend the ceremonies at St. Mihiel commemorating the "big push" of his doughboys.

But this year he feels so well he is going to march into the big square office—once was Franklin D. Roosevelt's—as assistant secretary of the navy—and sit down for an afternoon that would tire the average business executive of 50.

He expects to see any newsmen who want to see him, to make a radio talk to the American Legion and to greet his friends.

The general scoffs at the idea his birthday might tire him. His carriage is erect, his step is sure and his voice is strong.

The general rises at 7:30 with military regularity and shaves himself with an old-fashioned straight razor. He has his breakfast in his living room and he reads his newspapers.

He likes to ride and he likes to walk and gets in a lot of both every day. He's a busy man. He gets a volume of correspondence and his advice is sought by many in the high places of government.

From London King George sent "warmest congratulations" today to General John J. Pershing, who will be 80 tomorrow.

"I send you my warmest congratulations on your 80th birthday," the king said in a message to the World War A. E. F. commander, "together with the best wishes of the people of this country, where you will always be held in affectionate esteem as a distinguished leader and comrade-in-arms."

A low for the season in men left on bases was recorded in the battle of the left-handed Smiths, Al and Edgar, in the night game in Cleveland August 14, the night of Al's one-hitter. Only five men were left on by the two clubs, three White Sox and two Indians.

Woodstock, Sept. 11.—The annual congregation meeting of the Woodstock Lutheran Church will be held in the church Thursday evening, September 12, at 8 o'clock.

The Fish and Game Club will give a clam bake Sunday, September 15, at the athletic field. The bake will begin at 2 p. m., and will continue until all are served.

This is the annual event which has proved so popular on other occasions, and it is expected that a large number of residents will attend.

Saturday last, marked the close of the Woodstock Craftsmen's bazaar, which occupies the same building with the Woodstock Fuel Co. In the future the fuel company will continue to have its offices there and craftsmen will discontinue for the winter, except for an exhibition, which will probably be held about Thanksgiving time in the art gallery. The venture of the craftsmen, which was undertaken as a new business venture, has proved successful, and it is anticipated that it will reopen next season with additional attractions and a promise of continued operation. A meeting will be held to make plans for the future.

The Odd Fellows Lodge, No. 533, will have a meeting September 20, at which they will present 50-year pins to Fordice Burhans of Shady and also Wilson Bonesteel. The pins will be presented by Frank Shultis, former proprietor of the Bearsview store.

The house of Norman Elwyn, near the Elwyn playhouse, is nearing completion.

Two cellars have been dug on the Will Davis property where it is reported two houses will be erected for the daughters of Frank Cornell. Mr. Reynolds will do the work. The third daughter of Mr. Cornell also has a house on the same estate.

A meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association will be called for Tuesday, September 17, at which it is reported a new president will be elected in the place of Mrs. Middendorph, who has resigned, as she intends to return to New York. Now that local graduates of Kingston High School have considered college plans, it is learned that Mary Clough will go to Middlebury, Carl Schleicher to Bard at Annandale, and up to the present time Ted Perkins has not made definite plans for the future. Various other graduates here from the high school are giving consideration to the various colleges.

Primary day will be held here Tuesday.

Woodstock, Sept. 10.—The Maverick Sunday concert, which was to have consisted of a Bach concerto, was changed owing to the fact that Horace Britt experienced some difficulty with his instrument. Mr. Britt will appear next Sunday and the program will consist of a trio for three cellos. The quartet on Sunday was: Frederic Balazs, first violin; Clifford Richter, second violin; Leon Lenard, viola; George Finckel, cello. The program was in two parts, Quartet in Major Opus 18, No. 3, Beethoven, and quartet by Debussy. Mr. White announces that it is undecided whether next Sunday's program will be the last and states that it will depend entirely on the weather.

Mrs. John Leahy gave birth to a girl at the Benedictine Hospital in Kingston on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Marcena Fredenberg spent the week-end in Woodstock.

Funeral services for Cushman Parker were held from the Victor Lasher undertaker parlors on Monday morning. Many of the friends of the Parkers were in attendance, and the display of floral tributes was most beautiful. It is understood that Mrs. Parker will continue to reside in Woodstock.

The Ivan Summers family are again in town after being absent from Woodstock. They visited various places in the west during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Scheld motored to Woodstock from Little Neck over the week-end. The Schelds occupied one of the Paige cottages in Bearsville during the summer.

A number of houses suitable for winter occupancy are now being placed by local real estate men.

When a couple came to his home to be married, the magistrate, thinking of his unfinished dinner, suggested that they go to night court, instead, and "my colleague there will be glad to accommodate you."

Later, Ford remembered it was his turn on the night bench—so he rushed down to court and performed the ceremony.

Spafford, Bissell Urge Americanism

der of the American Legion Edward E. Spafford (retired commander U. S. Navy) and the Hon. Pelham St. George Bissell, president of the Municipal Courts of the city of New York.

Addresses Are Significant

Both addresses were significant in their advocacy of proper preparedness and in their opposition to those who would again lead this country into war, with all that implies in suffering and sacrifice. Commander Spafford, particularly, spoke out against those who "today in this government, who speak with authority, are hysterically trying to prepare this nation for war."

The address delivered by Edward E. Spafford last evening follows:

In the earliest days of this nation there were people who were attempting to involve the infant country in the wars and tragedies of Europe. The trend of affairs today are similar.

It is evident that we do not even now fully know the blessings of liberty and independence which have been handed down to us through the sacrifices, wisdom and stout hearts of the men who built this nation.

We have enjoyed protection of individual liberty all of our lives. It has been ours without the asking. It is a gift from the Revolution. It also is a debt which we must pay by handing it down in whole to our posterity.

Some of us have helped this nation guarantee that liberty. We must continue to guarantee it as individuals. Other great national crises have arisen and have been met and solved. Each has brought to the men of its time the highest plane of patriotism.

Recently heroic deeds in the worst crises in our history have been marked in our national calendar in the red blood of devotion to our country and her ideals.

Certain writers have thrown mud upon the character and aims of many of the great men in our history, including our own immortal George Washington.

Today we are prone to throw mud at the names of those men and women who may not agree with us. If those people have been tested then they are entitled to their individual liberty of expression of their thoughts.

Unfortunately, in this nation of ours which is made up of peoples from every country on earth, there is up of people who profess practically every spiritual belief which is known, are being preyed upon by people of other faiths and other opinions.

Two men that I am now thinking of—Henry Ford and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh—have been accused of being un-American. In my humble opinion, there are no more loyal, fine-type men to be found in this country. I once received a letter stating that because they had been decorated by the German government that they had sold out to the Fuehrer.

Many of us who are gathered here this evening have received decorations—yet there can be none who have sold out. If they were men of that type, they would never have been decorated.

I was born in Vermont and the text books which I studied in school were still urging the American to wring the Lion's tail and chase the Red Coat down the lane. Even as late as my graduation from the Naval Academy, it was difficult to give liberty to both American and English sailors in the same port at the same time.

Turn of Feeling

The turn of feeling relative to the British Empire came when Admiral Chichester in the battle of Manila Bay offered his cooperation to Admiral Dewey. But, even as late as the Great War, it was the spirit of Lafayette and the French assistance in the War of the Revolution which was used to build the feeling in the hearts of the American to such a boiling point that they wanted to enter the World War.

It is probably true today as it was in 1917 that no Americanism rally can be held except it is influenced by the cloud banks of war. As the result of those days of 1917 there grew up the greatest Americanism group which this country has ever known. I refer to that organization which now has the admiration of the people throughout this nation—the American Legion. They have been guilty of matricide.

The American Legion has been opposed by those who have lived to the extreme right and by those who would destroy us from the extreme left. We have been called militarists simply because we have tried to keep this country from again going through those sorrows and those tragedies in which the membership of the American Legion took a leading part during the great World War.

As a matter of fact, from the very beginning of our existence, we have been practical pacifists, not that we have been afraid of war, not that we have advocated the seeking of peace at any price, but because we advocated preparedness to maintain peace. We have called down on our heads the wrath of many of those who felt that the best way to keep this country out of war was to lay back and let the more militaristic nations tread upon us.

I can remember of no time when a Legion speaker advocating preparedness urged that we arm to fight any particular nation.

Would Prepare for War

Today many in this government who speak with authority are hysterically trying to prepare this nation for war. They are committing war-like acts and are calling names before they are prepared to back up their actions with power. A large part of our nation has been so stirred by press, political leaders, by press, and our commentators, that many of our people are ready to spring to arms feeling that if they don't fight now they will have to fight later and then at a greater dis-

president justice municipal courts of New York city, who was one of the main speakers; Mayor Conrad J. Heiseilman; County Mobilization Chairman Harry L. Kirchner and Thomas B. F. Coughlin. In the upper right hand picture are Herman I. DuBois, past commander and rally chairman; Mrs. Sam N. Mann, president-elect of the Ladies' Auxiliary, who addressed the throng; Past National Commander Edward E. Spafford, who is a retired commander of the U. S. Navy, and local Commander Jerry Martin, Post No. 150. Pictured in the lower right corner are Joseph Silks, who is the Kingston Post mobilization chairman; Paul Zucca, who led the singing of the Star Spangled Banner; the Rev. Fr. William McDonald, post chaplain, and the Rev. Clarence Brown.

advantage. This is advocating murder—we are not prepared.

I never saw anybody who was looking for a fight that couldn't find it.

We're sending our airplanes out of the country yet we have not sufficient planes to train the young men who are seeking to enter the aviation forces. Within the last few days I have seen pictures of tanks which are said to have outlived their usefulness and which it is proposed shall be sent to Canada for training their forces. In recent military maneuvers held in the northern part of New York, taxi-cabs were used to represent tanks. If these tanks which are supposed to have outlived their usefulness are of value for training Canadian forces, then certainly they are of value for training our men.

Perhaps I'm a little more critical than some others in this Legion of ours because during one year when I was very highly honored by our organization, I visited about eighteen thousand disabled men and shook hands with them at their bedside.

I have a practical knowledge of the ravages of war—and I have knelt among the white crosses which marked the graves of those who died in Flanders Field, and I prayed to my God for an inspiration so that never again would our young men become cannon fodder for the age-old-hates which have caused European wars.

Fault Among Statesmen

It is my firm belief that the first line of defense of this nation or any other nation lies not in its military forces, but among the statesmen.

Today you find the statesmen of this country urging a two-ocean navy. If our statesmen do their stuff, can we become involved in a war on two oceans? Can we be drawn into war with two great powers at the same time without advantage. This is advocating murder—we are not prepared.

I never saw anybody who was looking for a fight that couldn't find it.

We're sending our airplanes out of the country yet we have not sufficient planes to train the young men who are seeking to enter the aviation forces. Within the last few days I have seen pictures of tanks which are said to have outlived their usefulness and which it is proposed shall be sent to Canada for training their forces. ### "Tree People Will Cease"

Because of the exalted position to which my comrades had lifted me, my expression of opinion is also recorded in that "Golden Book of Peace." It is in these words:

"When political leaders supplant envy and hate with affection and friendship, then free people will cease to demand war."

Will you please remember these words and when you get home tonight think them over and see how these words fit in with the expression of opinion by political leaders of today, political leaders of whatever nation you please, and see how they lead toward the destruction of more human life and the tears and anguish of mothers, sisters, brothers and children.

Hates are being built which will be followed with bloodshed and continuing hates which will be fed to babes in arms from the breasts of mothers who are made to suffer because of the ignorance or the desire for power and acclaim of political leaders.

Admiral Mahan said: The greatest battles are those which have never been fought and the greatest victories are the victories of peace."

Why should we not prepare? Yes, prepare to the last man so that everybody is available to be called upon for the defense of our country. But, why should our political leaders at the same time be breeding hate? We don't need to breed this hate—all we need to do is to be prepared and calm and not think that we must go out to fight the battles of others. There are plenty of battles to be fought within our own nation. There are plenty of people who are seeking to make the objectives of other nations our objectives. We need not take up the quarrel of others. We have enough quarrels of our own. We have enough troubles within—without adding a debt burden which compared with the burden which we took on for the preservation of Europe in 17, will be picaresque.

No Sir Galahad for Europe

No nation is going to attempt to invade us as long as we only seek to protect our own; that we don't go out to be a Sir Galahad and fight to maintain the hates which have always existed in Europe.

In the past, the Sons of America have been loyal. It has made little difference from what race or nationality they have sprung. Today there are no less than twenty-five million people in America who have some German blood coursing through their veins. They are good Americans. In our army of 1917 and 1918 there were hundreds of thousands of German lineage. They did a grand job for the country of their adoption, and I can imagine just how these men feel when some fellow who is now for the first waving his little American flag gets up and looking for Fifth Columnists points to those veterans of the last war whose patriotism has been 100% tested and says—Fifth Columnist.

We can't stand for this sort of breaking up of the unity of a nation, and when a leader asks for unity, he will have to have some protection for those who don't deserve a finger of scorn.

To those people I pay homage and to those others who have gallantly served our country in other wars—"May the wreath they have won never wither, nor the stars of their glory grow dim."

Bissell Gives Speech

The speech given by Pelham St. George Bissell, president justice of the Municipal court of the City of New York, follows:

There is only one "ism" in which we are interested today and that is Americanism. For many years the American Legion has been advocating proper preparedness for National Defense and today our national legislature and the people of our great country are at length beginning to realize that preparedness is the best insurance against war.

Every good American in the United States today wishes to see it remain at peace with its neighbors and at peace with the world. No one is more enthusiastic for peace than the veteran who has known the horrors of war, but a veteran realizes that peace is preserved by proper preparedness, and that an adequate program of national defense is no more a provocative of war than a well equipped fire department is a provocative of fires. An efficient police department does not bring on a crime wave, and an efficient well equipped army and navy does not bring on war.

We Americans pride ourselves in believing that we are equal to any emergency and that because we have sat on the victorious side at the peace table that we are invincible. It is true that in a military sense we have always been victorious, but generally for reasons that the military scientists say it is unscientific to count upon. Our enemy has either been preoccupied with other wars or torn by internal dissensions and so could not bring its forces to bear against us, or we have had allies to hold the enemy at bay until we got ready.

Today, our republic is the last great democracy which stands at peace with the world. How long this peace will remain unchallenged is a matter which no one can guess.

All of us know that in 1917 we were plunged into the greatest conflict in history utterly unprepared to meet the scientific conditions of modern warfare. We know that with the energy and skill which is typically American, we put into the field and on the sea what became the armored hope of humanity. We know that human life and natural resources were sacrificed unnecessarily because America could not furnish either the weapons or supplies to put her boys on an equal footing with the foe. It is common knowledge that the World War could have been ended victoriously many months earlier with thousands of lives spared and billions of dollars saved had America been prepared. America might never have been forced into the World War had our strength been such as to command respect for our rights as a great nation.

Let us glance for a minute over our efforts during the World War. Prior to our entry we flattered ourselves that we could rise to any emergency, and that our inventive genius would enable us, at the eleventh hour, to produce a death dealing engine or gas that would destroy our enemy at a blow. Probably no nation ever entered a war more ill prepared than we were, and this was despite the fact that anyone with the slightest knowledge of the causes of war must have known that we would get into it, yet in the face of these facts virtually nothing was done. Our unprepared condition at that time is noteworthy. Of the 2,250 pieces of artillery used by Americans on the firing lines at all points only 100 were made in America. Of the 2,698 planes sent to the zone of defense for American aviators only one-fourth were made in America, and they were mostly observation. Although we spent one hundred million dollars on tanks not a single American tank made for the American Army got to France. Although we spent a billion dollars on shells only 17,000 American made shells reached our troops in France, and although we spent 117 million dollars on gas, not a single American made gas shell was fired by our troops. Of course, we were able to get these supplies from our allies with the result that the space that our own supplies would have occupied on ships could be used for troops, but had these not been available our position would have been quite different.

In the country today, fortunately, a new day is dawning but our progress is entirely dependent upon an aroused public opinion. It takes years to build an adequate navy and we have only just begun. Since the days of the World War the strength of the army has never been up to the minimum necessary for efficient national defense, nor have appropriations been adequate to train the number of young men willing to give their time for training in the Citizens Military Training Camps.

Fortunate in World War

We were fortunate in the World War that we had allies to hold back our enemy for almost a year, while we were preparing our first troops to fight in our defense. Whatever the situation, our navy and air force will be needed immediately upon the declaration of a state of war and must be maintained full strength, armed, manned and equipped for prompt action.

We need for our army well trained officers and non-commissioned officers and adequate supplies of modern munitions and the means to produce them quickly. Today these are lacking. Our army must have a skilled body of professional soldiers to make necessary preparations and instruct the National Guard and Reserve, which will form the bulk of our army in time of war. We have only three-quarters of the number of Reserve Officers, who would be necessary for service at the outbreak of war, and appropriations of congress have not been sufficient to train one-quarter of these for two weeks annually in our camps. We cannot in fairness to our youth delay a minute in our preparations, training and the acquisition of the necessary planes, artillery and munitions. America has always stood for equity and every American should be glad and proud to serve his country under the universal selective service provisions of the Burke-Wadsworth Act.

There are those who place politics above patriotism and who would delay the effect of the Selective Service Act until a date after the come before their constituents for re-election. Petty politics cost France its freedom. We in America can tolerate no delay.

During the last war young men went over to France to take their places in the line who had never had a rifle in their hands until they boarded the ship in New York. These young men were not given a fair chance in their fight for the ideals of this country. It is our business to see that those of our citizens who are patriotic enough to be willing to give their time to prepare themselves to defend their country are given the opportunity to be properly trained.

Those of us who realize the necessities of the country, owe a

Agents, Testers Promote Dairying

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Because of the success of last year's meetings, another series of conferences have been scheduled this year for county agricultural agents and supervisors of dairy herd improvement associations in New York state. All of the meetings are in September.

The dates and meeting places are: for northern counties, September 18 and 19, at Long Point Inn, Lewis county; for the capital district, 20 and 21, farm bureau office, Albany; for western New York, 23 and 24, at the Ontario county 4-H club camp at Bristol Center; for central New York, 25 and 26, at the Tompkins county camp at South Danby, near Ithaca and for southeastern counties, September 27 and 28 at the Delhi state school at Delhi.

The meetings aim to help both the agents and supervisors with the dairy extension program in the state. This includes the organization and administration of 134 dairy herd improvement associations, artificial-breeding associations, and the extension work that deals with the feeding, breeding, and management of livestock.

G. W. Talby of the department of animal husbandry at Cornell points out that New York dairymen continue among the nation's leaders in the work of herd improvement, testing, and keeping records on their herds. New York is second only to Wisconsin in the number of associations and the number of herds on test, and second only to California in the number of cows on test.

Healthy Pigs

Columbia, Mo. (AP)—The reason a pig enjoys eating is that he likes to be happy and healthy, says J. W. Burch of the Missouri College of Agriculture, who has made a study of the eating habits of swine. Pigs that are well fed and housed in clean surroundings usually have the vitality necessary to throw off disease that might be contracted by animals on a "maintenance diet" only, says Burch.

Busman's Holiday

Moberly, Mo. (AP)—W. T. Giles and F. M. Rouch, railroad machinists, built a streamlined train model, working a year in their spare time. It's motor-powered and capable of carrying 24 passengers in three cars. They said the job was fun.

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—A 25-year-old bridegroom and his 17-year-old bride must answer charges in felony court, Brooklyn, today that they paid a woman $5 to pose as the girl's mother and give "consent" to an under-age marriage. The pair, listed as Leah Barkin and Bernard Brodsky, husband and wife since June 15, were charged with subornation of perjury. Detective James Anderson said the young people acknowledged that the "parent" was a

Complex Factors Make Any Prediction of Outcome Risky

Nazis Will Attempt To Master Air as Invasion Prelude

Bombings Have Two-Fold Value for Germans in Demoralization, Damage to Industries

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Should Herr Hitler make good his threat to dump ten thousand airplane loads of bombs on London every 24 hours, and follow this rain of death by the invasion he has prepared, we probably shall be able to pick the ultimate winner of the war before many days have passed.

On the eve of this proposed mass killing and destruction from the air there are so many vital factors in doubt that he would be a fool-hardy man who tried to predict the outcome, despite the Nazi superiority of military power. Prophecy would be as dangerous as negotiating Niagara Falls in a barrel.

However, I will repeat what I have said in this column before—that this war is nobody's pigeon yet.

Obviously the Germans might achieve a quick knockout. On the other hand, if the British can take the punishment which is bound to come, and throw back the perhaps the most powerful attack of history, then they can look with a considerable degree of confidence towards the respite that the bad weather should bring by the end of this month.

Many observers believe that Hitler is going to win or lose this war within the immediate future. To my mind he will indeed be lucky if he gets another chance after the present historic occasion.

Speaks Great Truth

British Premier Churchill yesterday in warning his people of the storm to come spoke a great truth in mild words when he said that for the Nazis to attempt invasion without gaining mastery of the air (which they have been unable to achieve thus far), would be "a very hazardous undertaking." Indeed, it would be such a tremendous risk that, while Hitler is prepared to dare greatly in this crisis, I venture to say he will essay control of the air before driving his soldier-laden barges onto the waves of the English Channel. That is one of his reasons for intensifying his aerial attack on London—to pace the way for the landing of a host of soldiers from what safely may be described as the most perfectly trained army ever sent into action. To my mind invasion is essential for a quick Nazi victory, as it is hard to believe that the Germans could dictate to England from the air alone.

The increased bombing has other purposes, of course. In part it is directed at destruction of the important industries about the metropolis, the dislocation of the nation's communications by crippling this great rail center, the demolition of docks and harbor facilities, and disorganization of governmental direction.

But Hitler's main objective is the morale of the civilian population. If he can smash that he will make a mighty stride towards victory. I have referred to this more than once before, but it is so important—so vital—that I feel justified in returning to the subject.

British Are Determined

All indications are that the British are facing with determination this test which means life or death to their empire, and will mean the end of life for many individuals. No one who heard or read that talk of Churchill's yesterday could fail to sense the sturdiness of England's spirit.

His was the calm and studied language of a great leader to his people in the hour of danger. Long ago he had told them that he had "nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat." And how he gathered them about him and warned that the hour of supreme trial had come.

The next week "must be regarded as a very important one for us in our history," he said quietly. No bluster, no shouting—just a plain statement that this battle, upon which hangs the fate of the biggest empire of all time, is "a very important one."

"Every man and woman must prepare to do his duty, whatever it may be, with special pride and care." And thus he led them into the conflict.

Must Recognize Point

But with all this, you and I must recognize that there is a point beyond which sheer bravado fails to function. There may come a time when, under such hellish punishment as mass bombing involves, body and mind cannot stand the shock. No amount of courage can overcome this.

I personally have known strong and gallant soldiers, with strings of decorations across their chests, to crack up temporarily under the pressure of continued shock. Such incidents are not uncommon in the heat of conflict.

This battle isn't going to turn on British bravery. Everybody knows their courage is supreme, and the Germans have complimented them on it in this war. The outcome will depend in no small degree on how much more those raw and bleeding civilian nerves can stand without robbing the people of will power.

The British answer to this effort to break their hearts is that they can "take it."

Brigham Young, the Mormon leader who died in 1877, was survived by 17 wives and 47 children.

Spafford, Bissell Urge Americanism

duty to the land we live in, to see that it is properly prepared against any foreign enemy, and to have congress understand that we believe that adequate military preparedness is the best preservation of our liberties in this democratic republic.

In these days when we realize the value of liberty more highly than ever before the principles upon which this land of ours is founded have a deeper significance for us all. In this changing world today it is well for us all to look at the abiding basis upon which Americanism is founded, so that we may the more readily recognize attacks on its principles.

In our desire for protection, let us lay no foundation for a dictatorship. Let us realize that government exists for the benefit of man and not man for the benefit of the state. In America every man has been free to act as he will, provided that in so doing he wrongs no man. Throughout the world today compulsion is at war with liberty. America must remain free and preserve to the individual, no matter how humble or unpopular, the right to be wrong.

America represents the work of no one race or creed. It is a temple of liberty erected by the joint efforts of those who have been and are its citizens, and which will only stand as long as our citizens are living stones of its fabric.

Greatness of America

The greatness of America has always been this ideal of freedom and liberty of the individual. It is not the wealth of mineral deposits that has made America great, it is not her mighty cities, it is not her farms and her industries, but the spirit of the people united in support of the ideal that a man shall have freedom to worship God as he will and to act as he will, provided that in so doing he wrongs no man.

Liberty is the enemy of bureaucracies and dictatorships and liberty is only kept by a constant struggle. It is always measured by the way in which it guards the rights of the minorities, for a majority needs no guardian of its rights but ever needs a hand to restrain its untrammelled rule, so that the rights of minorities may not be trampled under foot. In every instance where a dictatorship has been set up there has been suppression of the right to worship, of freedom of press, of freedom of speech, of freedom to protest and freedom to assemble. Those who have founded this country came here not for gain, for comfort or safety, but in quest of a life under an ideal. They endured pain and hunger and cold for this ideal of liberty. I trust that the day will never come when the Statute of Liberty which stands in the harbor of New York will be a monument to a dead thought and not an inspiration for a living ideal.

The basic principles upon which our country is founded are the guaranty of the rights of the individual against encroachment by the state; the federal system of dual sovereignty, which guarantees each community the right of self government in local affairs; and the division of the powers of sovereignty among the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches of government. Usurpation by any branch spells disaster. Our constitution stands as the rule and guide for rulers and people in peace as in war and covers with the shield of its protection all classes of men at all times under all circumstances. It stands against the power of the majority to crush the humblest and most unpopular member of a minority. Never forget that the majority of one year may be the minority in the next year and that an uncontrolled majority can be the greatest curse of a Republic and a democracy.

The independence and rights of people are always first imperiled by a deposition which seems benevolent. Guards those freedoms given us by the Bill of Rights as more precious than life itself. It is an easy thing in time of war to offer one's life for one's country, but it is a much harder thing in time of peace to live one's life for one's country. That is an opportunity that each patriotic citizen has today. He can best preserve the spirit of our institutions by seeing that each individual, no matter what his race, his creed or color, has kept intact for him freedom to worship God in accordance with the dictates of his own conscience, and that freedom of press, freedom of speech, and freedom to assemble and protect are held as sacred for even the most unpopular. To be one with the majority is a simple matter, but to see to the preservation of the rights of the minority is a more important matter. This spirit of freedom and liberty is what has sustained this land of ours for the last 160 years. As long as we keep that spirit an active living thing, this country of ours will continue to progress.

We in America today hold in our hands the fate of the world, the hope of the coming years, and shame and disgrace will be ours, if in our eyes the light of high resolve be dimmed, if we trail in the dust the golden hopes of men.

Loyalty to our forefathers, loyalty to the ideals of America, call on us to maintain that liberty and freedom without which no one lives in honor, in dignity and in peace.

With faith in the ideal of personal liberty we humbly pray, "Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget, lest we forget."

Before the meeting was brought to a close with the benediction by the Rev. Clarence E. Brown and the singing of a verse of God Bless America, Chairman DuBois thanked the Boy Scouts, the Junior Legion Band under leadership of Sal Castiglione, the press and others who had cooperated in making the rally such a fine success.

Pastor Will Deliver Special Sermon Series

"Jeremiah Speaks To America" is the subject of a series of lectures that Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool will give at the Thursday evening Mid-Week Services at the First Dutch Church during the next few weeks, beginning this evening.

The lectures will consist of an intimate study of the Book of Jeremiah in the Old Testament, showing how similar was the military, political, economic and religious crisis of Jeremiah's day to that of our own and hence how important is his message to America today.

In the message of this prophet of ancient times America today can find not a little help in solving some of her most perplexing current problems, such as her foreign policy, national defense, conscientious objectors, and the root cause of the present world disorders.

The lecture this evening will compare the crisis of Jeremiah's day with that of our own, noting how closely history is repeating itself. The service begins at 7:30 o'clock and lasts one hour. The lectures are free to all who wish to attend them.

Tibet is the highest country in the world, with table lands rising 16,000 feet above the sea.

County Resident Held as Probation Violator in City

New York, Sept. 11.—(Special)

—Louis Harrison, who was found guilty two years ago of conspiring with Frank Giordano, Louis and James Weed, John W. and John R. Sinsabaugh and others in the conduct of an illicit liquor business in Ulster county, was arraigned before Judge John C. Knox in federal court today, charged with violation of probation. He was remanded to detention headquarters for hearing tomorrow.

Harrison, who was in the sugar business, was charged with supplying the others with large quantities of sugar for the operation of a still on the Basel Brothers farm, Walker Valley, and another at the Sinsabaugh farm, Pine Bush. He failed to make the required reports of bulk sugar sales. After the conviction, he was placed on probation for three years by Judge Knox.

F.D.R. Inaugurates Campaign, Speaks For Industry Draft

compulsory service for recalcitrant industry by asserting, it was necessary that "every dollar of capital" share in the defense effort just as well as the men in the fighting forces and workers behind the lines.

He said the nation was about to adopt selective universal training of its young men and that, on the same principal, "no reasonable person can object to giving the government the power to acquire the services of any plant or factory for adequate compensation, if the owner refuses to make its services available to the defense needs of the nation."

"This is nothing new in American life," he asserted. "The principle of eminent domain or eminent use is as old as democratic government itself."

Government vs. Business

Applause swept the hall when he added: "No business is above its government; and government should be empowered to deal adequately with any business which tries to rise above its government."

Asserting that "certain employers, politicians and newspapers—all of whom are now active in this campaign—tried to 'mislead and intimidate labor' in 1936 by putting notices in pay envelopes to help 'smash the new Social Security Act,'" he said:

"That kind of opposition comes only too often from those who regularly for three years and eight months block labor's welfare, and then for four months loudly proclaim that they are labor's true friends—from those who love the laboring man in November but forget him in January."

The President praised labor groups, capital, industry and agriculture for "responding" to defense needs, but said in all the defense plans under way "only those who seek to play upon the fears of American people, discover an attempt to lead us into war."

"The American people," he said, "will reject that kind of propaganda of fear, as they have rejected similar types which are 'occasionally' spread at election time."

After reviewing his social security and labor program, he said he was convinced that "a breakdown of existing labor and social legislation would weaken rather than increase our efforts for defense."

"Continuance of them means the preservation of the efficiency of labor," he declared. "It means the return to work of several millions still unemployed."

For Extended Pensions

Specifically, he advocated extension and increases of old age pensions, and expansion of unemployment insurance to cover more workers.

There was a hint to the CIO and AFL to settle their organizational battle when he expressed a hope that the cooperation the two were showing in the defense program would "encourage closer and more friendly relations between these great labor organizations."

The applause at this suggestion seemed particularly enthusiastic. Mr. Roosevelt drew a broad line of demarcation between the New Deal and the opposition when, after citing his seven year record, he declared:

"The people must decide whether to continue the type of government which has fostered the progress to date, or whether to turn it over to those who by their action, if not always by their word, have shown their fundamental opposition to the main objectives toward which we have worked in the past and to which we are definitely committed for the future."

Hitting at those who, he said, would seek "lower wages" and "unlimited hours of labor" on the ground that adequate national defense requires it, he repeated a statement he made last May:

"There is nothing in our present emergency to justify a retreat from any of our social objectives—conservation of resources, assistance to agriculture housing, and help to the underprivileged."

Bar Association Tables All Third Term Resolutions

Philadelphia, Sept. 12 (AP)—The American Bar Association tabled today, by a vote of 217 to 126, all resolutions dealing with a presidential term.

An atmosphere of tense excitement prevailed as Harry Knight, of Sunbury, Pa., secretary of the association, read to the organization's 63rd annual convention a resolution denouncing "unqualifiedly" a third term for President Roosevelt.

The resolution was sponsored by Edward C. Bailey, New York; H. Graham Morrison, Bristol, Pa., and Charles Ruzika, Baltimore.

"I move this motion be laid on the table as scandalous and impertinent," shouted Clarence N. Goodwin, of Washington.

Charles A. Beardsley, bar association president, ruled after tabling of the motion that the action applied to all resolutions dealing with a third term.

The convention considered today a seven-point "federal public order act" suggested by Professor Karl Loewenstein, of Amherst College, Mass., as necessary to curb "subversive activities."

"The United States may well profit by the lessons offered by some European democracies in keeping subversive activities under control through appropriate legislative measures," he declared in a speech before the convention.

But, he said, "mere sympathy with Fascism cannot be penalized while the bill of rights is still in force. It should be remembered, however, that during emergency situations in the past—and at present our national institutions are more at stake than at any time since the foundation of the republic—legislative limitations of fundamental rights were sustained by the Supreme Court."

Following the dinner there was entertainment and a floor show and remarks by several of the officers and guests. ## Bands Are Not Neglected

In National Defense Plan ANN ARBOR, MICH.—As America builds up its national defenses, one phase of preparation can be pushed into the background. There is no shortage of top-flight young musicians to form military bands.

That is the opinion of William D. Revelli, conductor of University of Michigan bands, who has just completed a three-week band clinic for 137 interscholastic musicians from 10 states. Revelli believes that young bandmen of today are the best ever produced.

Their proficiency obviously is due to increased emphasis on public school music programs, but Revelli does not discount the glamour of brass and brass buttons.

Revelli is in a position to judge present-day bandmen. He developed five national championship bands when he was a high school director at Hobart, Ind., and since coming to Michigan several years ago he has been acclaimed by such experts as Edwin Franko Goldman as "America's coming bandmaster" and "another Sousa."

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatism, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give speedy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Bureau Exhibits Lauded by Judges

Homemakers' Showings at Fair Receive Praise

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 12—"Best in their history," Bristow Adams, editor of publications for the New York state colleges of agriculture and home economics, called the eight home bureau exhibits at this year's state fair. He was chairman of the judging group and has been a judge every year but last for the past 15 years.

The other judges, Vera McCrea, director of the home department of the dairymen's league, and Mrs. L. E. Harrison, homemaking, of West Winfield, said they shared Professor Adams' enthusiasm.

The exhibits were not rated numerically, but the judges agreed that the Tompkins, Jefferson, Onondaga, and Erie exhibits were exceptional. These exhibits showed, respectively: braided rugs, foods that build health, restyling old furniture to new, and a home recreation room.

"They were all so much lighter, better in color, and better in design than they used to be," the judges noted. They also commended the enthusiasm, courtesy, knowledge, skill, and poise of the home bureau women in the booths. The friendly give-and-take between these women and the state fair visitors was particularly remarked upon. Besides the subject of the exhibits, the home bureau room in the women's building told that more than 33,000 women are now organized into 1,100 community groups in villages, towns and cities in New York and that, in the local groups, homemaking and community living are studied, under the direction of county home demonstration agents and extension specialists from the New York state college of home economics at Cornell.

Committee Members

The home bureau exhibits committee for the fair consisted of Mrs. Palmer Watkins, West Winfield; Mrs. E. B. Bickford, Solon; Mrs. R. H. Carhart, Minna; Mrs. Marjorie Planty, Auburn; Mrs. Eleanor Millman, Belmont; Miss Beatrice Fehr, Cortland; Mrs. H. M. Wagenblass, Warsaw; Mrs. Ann P. Duncan, Binghamton; Mrs. Blanche Kelsey, Buffalo; and Mrs. Helen Hoefer, Miss Lillian Shaben, and Mrs. Kathleen H. Small of the college of home economics at Ithaca.

Professor Adams spoke well of Wayne county's exhibit of planning centers for the home. "I was particularly impressed with the cleverness with which so many things had been adapted to new uses," he said. "The desk made out of an old sewing-machine cabinet, the filing folders for recipes and bills made out of soap-chip and cigar boxes; in fact, everything in the exhibit was makeable in the ordinary home. The planning center seems so indispensable that one wonders how any home ever got along without one."

Vera McCrea said that Jefferson county's exhibit of balanced meals was the best food exhibit she had ever seen; she praised its orderliness, simplicity, and beauty. Particularly good, she thought, was the way in which the idea of balanced meals was carried out by the use of the scales and the symmetry of design.

The Tompkins county exhibit impressed the judges by its color and design and the quality of craftsmanship, and by the fact that the persons who planned the rugs had derived their color schemes from pictures painted by skilled artists. By doing that, the judges said "they just couldn't go wrong!"

Exhibits Practical

The cleaning of rugs and upholstery, shown by Steuben county home bureau groups, was described as "one of the most practical of the exhibits in the sense that it was convincing." The judges emphasized the simplicity of the cleaning method shown and the excellent presentation of the "before and after" treatments.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The Northern District of the Ulster-Greene Council held its quarterly meeting at the Greenville Central School Tuesday evening, September 10, Scott Ellis, chairman of the district, presiding. Russell Colton, chairman of the advancement committee, reported three Courts of Honor held during the past year and the date for the next court will be November 6 at the Greenville school.

District Commissioner Brous reported on the organization of the Emergency Corps and the work they had done during the past months. He also gave the report of troop activities at the district rally and council camporee and said he and the assistant district commissioner were planning a meeting of the scoutmasters to set up plans for the coming months' activities in the troops.

Mr. Ellis reported that the standing of the district was: January 1, 1940, eight troops, 144 scouts; September 1, 1940, eight troops and 159 scouts; objective for December 31, 1940, ten troops, 160 scouts.

Plans for the annual finance campaign were presented by Executive Burns and the district agreed to start its work during the week of October 7 and to finish before the end of the month.

The Saugerties District will hold its quarterly meeting at the Saugerties High School Wednesday evening, September 11, at 7:45 p. m.

The Reds have optioned Mike Dejan, their $35,000 rookie from Chattanooga to their farm team in Birmingham. Despite the fact that his outfielders are hitting poorly, McKechnie decided that Mike was not far enough developed in his fielding, especially in the handling of ground balls, to help him in the outfield this season. Dejan is subject to immediate recall.

Erie county was full of suggestions, the judges said. "It was artistic and practical, and had homelike quality." They agreed that no signs were needed to explain this exhibit because every game and piece of equipment in the room spoke for itself. The same thing was true of the Onondaga county exhibit, on restyling the old into the smartly new. The actual showing of how to remove wedding-cake and gingerbread ornaments from old pieces of furniture told the story. As suggestions for next year, the judges mentioned more effective labels with large lettering. Miss McCrea pointed out that home bureau women had actually made or done all the things shown and that the exhibits had grown out of needs which they themselves felt. One of the most fruitful results of the exhibits, according to Miss McCrea, is that they have given self-confidence to women formerly shy.

Torlonia Reported Freed
Rome, Sept. 11 (AP)—An authoritative source said today that Prince Alessandro Torlonia, wealthy young Roman nobleman, had been released after detention for questioning. Friends of the prince, whose mother is the former Elsie Moore of New York, said yesterday he had been arrested in a roundup of Italians suspected of "anti-fascist or defeatist tendencies."

Champion Neighbors
Tulsa, Okla. (AP)—The registrar questioning an 85-year-old woman who wanted a birth certificate for her 65-year-old son, discovered a situation that should set a record for neighborliness. The registrar suggested the woman obtain the signature of a non-relative who knew of the birth, and who knows the son. "That's easy," said she. "My next door neighbor lived next door to me when he was a sitting baby in Missouri and she's lived next door to me here for 30 years. In fact during the last 50 years we haven't lived more than a stone's throw apart."

Woman Is Identified

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—A woman found beaten to death Monday in the Commercial Hotel, 341 Broome street, has been identified as Mary Dillon, 36, whose last known address was 312 East 19th street. The identification was made at the Bellevue morgue last night by her brother, Daniel Dillon, who said he had not seen her during the last 18 months.

He'll Need a Stepladder

Holly Springs, Miss. (AP)—Experimenting in 1937, Farmer Abner Hill planted a tiny packet of a new type of seed someone gave him. Four huge stalks of cotton, one with 125 bolls, came up. He picked four pounds from the stalks and saved the seed, Hill reported. By this year, Hill had saved enough seed to plant 16 acres. The young cotton is already six feet tall and covered with blooms. The average mature stalk stands about three feet high and has 10 bolls.

British Bomb Libya

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 12 (AP)—British warplanes were reported today to have damaged Italian military airports and destroyed dock facilities in a series of bombing attacks on Libyan objectives.

Large blazes were started among docks and hangars at Derna, a communique said, and four fires sprang up when bombs were rained on Amsest, just across the Egyptian border.

Several fires also were reported started at Bardia.

Italian bombers who attempted to raid the Alexandria-Mersa Matruh railroad in Egypt again were intercepted by British fighters and suffered a "high proportion of casualties," the communique added.

"He apparently has become disturbed by his own clumsy handling of foreign affairs," Willkie dictated his statement to a stenographer before breakfast, then sat in the hotel Lollis dining room and proof-read the finished copy.

He had a busy day ahead before his departure tonight on a western speaking tour.

likely that final Senate action could be taken before Friday. Subsequent House approval either that day or Saturday would send the measure to a warm welcome at the White House.

The conferees made a number of minor changes in wording to the final draft of the House and Senate bills. Among them was acceptance of a provision delaying until after July 1, 1941 the training of any student who might wish to complete his current college year.

Will Ask Maintenance

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—New York's 1941 Legislature will be asked to assure maintenance of present compensation for employees of all governmental units in the state who are conscripted for federal military training. Lieut. Governor Charles Poletti, state coordinator for national defense, said today the legislation would provide for payment to state, county, city, town and village employees of the difference between their civil salaries and military pay. The law now provides such protection for workers in all units who are members of the National Guard, naval militia or officers reserve.

Laborer Pleads Guilty

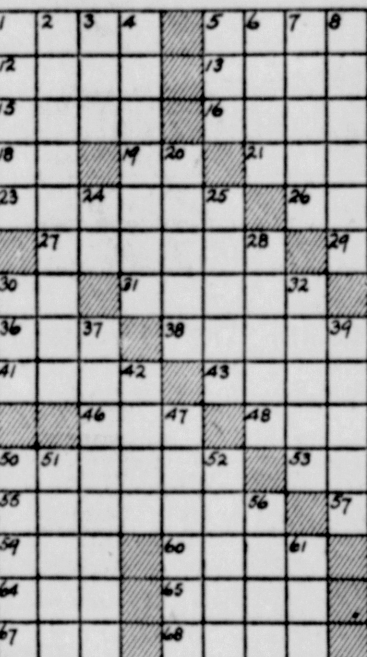

London, Sept. 12 (AP)—Alexander Inwood, 29, a laborer, pleaded guilty today to firing a straw-stick during a raid when German aircraft were overhead, and thus providing a beacon. He was sentenced to three years imprisonment. Justice Hallett said, "in Germany the penalty for such a crime would have been death."

Four Brick Firms Will Aid Project

Concerns to Supply Brick for Town Garage

Supervisor Auley Roosa of the town of Ulster said this morning that the brick for the new town garage, for which $6,000 was voted Tuesday, is being donated by four of the local brick manufacturers. The firms, who will give 15,000 bricks each for the new public building, are Brigham Bros., Philip Goldrick & Sons, Rose Bros., and the East Kingston Brick Corp.

The companies performing this public spirited act are the heaviest taxpayers in the town and the supervisors say that their support, as well as that of the taxpayers, who by a nearly unanimous vote backed the proposition is greatly appreciated by the members of the town board. He added that the latter have worked hard to further the proposition and are greatly gratified at the reception given to it.

In addition to furnishing a home for housing of the town machinery the new building also will provide a permanent polling place. Besides the donation of brick by the brick companies, land for the site of the new building was given to the town by A. H. Chambers. Gifts of these substantial items resulted in greatly lessening the cost to the taxpayers of the improvement.

Gives Reasons Why President Won't Talk

The Troy Record recently had the following to say editorially:

Why He Won't Talk

"Our overworked President has no time to debate pressing national issues with Wendell Willkie. According to his own statement, he is busy with the 'Battle of Britain.' He does have time, however, to sojourn with great frequency at his beautiful Hyde Park estate and, among other things, to tour the Dutchess County Fair at Rhinebeck with his distinguished guest, Crown Princess Martha of Norway, and members of her party."

"The President is entitled, needless to say, to a certain amount of relaxation, but it is obvious that he could still subtract enough time from his frequent vacations to meet Mr. Willkie on the debating platform."

"It may be argued that such forensic efforts would require preparation and that they would constitute an unbearable burden for that reason. In view of the fact that the President has been a kind of political Charley McCarthy ever since he first took office, however, this argument is hardly sound. With a whole battery of brain-trusters to write his speeches for him, the problem of preparation should trouble him little."

"The obvious truth of the matter is that if he met Mr. Willkie he would have to engage in rebuttal. It would not simply be a matter of reciting a tailor-made speech. In a rough-and-tumble debate he could not hold his own with the Republican candidate for a moment and he knows it. That is the real reason why he is so preoccupied with the 'Battle of Britain' at least between visits to his Hyde Park retreat."

4 pounds veal shoulder or shank, meat and knuckle bone 1/2 cup carrots 1/2 cup chopped onion 1/2 cup chopped celery 3 hard-cooked eggs Salt and pepper Cover meat and bone with water. Add the chopped vegetables and let simmer until the meat is tender. Drain, reserving the broth. Let the broth simmer until it is reduced to 1 cup, then strain, cool and skim. Dice or grind the meat and add to the broth. Season with salt and pepper. Decorate a mold with slices of hard-cooked eggs. Pack in the veal mixture and chill.

Meat salads are as tempting in appearance as they are good to eat. Diced veal or lamb combined with vegetables well mixed with salad dressing, arranged in lettuce nests, makes an attractive main dish for a buffet luncheon or supper. Radish roses and ripe olives lend color. Potato chips are served with the salad.

In loaf or ring mold, served on a bed of lettuce, is another kind of meat salad which is both tempting and satisfying. Veal is fine for this purpose.

Here are suggestions for tempting combinations.

Roast Beef Salad 1 cup roast beef, diced 2 cups string beans 1/2 cup cooked potatoes, diced 1/2 teaspoon prepared horseradish 1/4 cup mayonnaise 1 tablespoon vinegar Dash of paprika Salt

Dash of white pepper Blend the mayonnaise, vinegar, salt, pepper and paprika. Combine with the potatoes and beans, cut lengthwise and then crosswise in 1/4 inch pieces. Chill until ready to serve. Add the horseradish and beef and toss together lightly. Serve on crisp lettuce with radish roses.

Molded Lamb Salad 1 cup diced cooked lamb 2 tablespoons gelatin 1/4 cup cold water 2 cups meat stock 1 cup cooked salad dressing 1/2 cup diced celery 2 tablespoons diced green peppers 2 pimientos, cut in strips 1/2 cup diced pineapple 1/2 cup nut meats Salt and pepper Soak the gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot meat stock. Mix well with cooked salad dressing, diced meat and other ingredients. Turn into a mold to chill. When ready to serve, turn out on to a platter and garnish with lettuce, strips of green pepper and pimiento and mayonnaise roses made by forcing the mayonnaise through a pastry tube.

Pressed Veal 4 pounds veal shoulder or shank, meat and knuckle bone 1/2 cup carrots 1/2 cup chopped onion 1/2 cup chopped celery 3 hard-cooked eggs Salt and pepper Cover meat and bone with water. Add the chopped vegetables and let simmer until the meat is tender. Drain, reserving the broth. Let the broth simmer until it is reduced to 1 cup, then strain, cool and skim. Dice or grind the meat and add to the broth. Season with salt and pepper. Decorate a mold with slices of hard-cooked eggs. Pack in the veal mixture and chill.

However, meat salads fit nicely into many occasions. They are especially good at tempting capricious appetites and they are more nutritious and satisfying than they might seem. While they are high in favor for special occasions, they need not be reserved for them. Remember that your family, as well as guests, appreciate dainty appetizing food. So give them a treat now and then.

Meat salads are easy to prepare, which is a point in their favor with the homemaker who likes to make the most of her time and energy. Veal and lamb, because of their delicate flavor and fine texture, are favorites for serving in this way. Pork also is very good in salad. Beef, although used less often, can be very tasty in salad. However, meat salads fit nicely into many occasions. They are especially good at tempting capricious appetites and they are more nutritious and satisfying than they might seem. While they are high in favor for special occasions, they need not be reserved for them. Remember that your family, as well as guests, appreciate dainty appetizing food. So give them a treat now and then.

Meat salads are easy to prepare, which is a point in their favor with the homemaker who likes to make the most of her time and energy. Veal and lamb, because of their delicate flavor and fine texture, are favorites for serving in this way. Pork also is very good in salad. Beef, although used less often, can be very tasty in salad. Meat salad is an excellent way of utilizing the left-over portions of a roast.

Jellied meat, deliciously chilled,

Urgent Call Made For Air Teachers

Civil Service Commission Asks for Enrollments

In compliance with the national defense program there is an urgent demand for instructors in the air corps technical school of the War Department. An insufficient number of eligibles resulted from an examination for filling these positions which closed August 15, 1940. The United States Civil Service Commission has therefore reannounced an examination to fill the following positions:

Instructor, air corps technical school, $3,800 a year; also associated instructor, $3,200; assistant instructor, $2,600; and junior instructor, $2,000 a year. The salaries are subject to a retirement deduction of 3-1/2 per cent. Applications will be rated as received at the Washington office of the U. S. Civil Service Commission until further notice, and certification made as the needs of the service require.

Separate lists of eligibles will be established in the following optional branches of instruction in the aircraft field: Carburetion systems, engines, hydraulic systems, instruments, mechanics, propellers, fabric work, sheet-metal work, welding, heat treating, parachutes, and Air Corps fundamentals. Employment in these positions is under the Army Air Corps, and vacancies will be filled at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill.; Scott Field, Belleville, Ill.; and Lowry Field, Denver, Colo. Applicants must have completed at least 14 units of high-school study and must have had certain experience as instructor in shop subjects or as shop supervisor.

Full information as to the requirements for these examinations, and application forms, may be obtained from W. N. Schwab, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at the post office or customhouse in this city, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at any first- or second-class post office.

British Strike Anew at Berlin

gallon water tank of one of the buildings and set it crashing.

Madame Tussaud's wax museum, an assembly of wax figures of world characters, also has been damaged.

Bombs shook an air raid shelter in south London, where last night's main attack centered, but no casualties were reported.

Noise From Our Guns

Londoners expressed that most of the noise of the raid was from their own guns instead of from bombs.

"Spasmodic gunfire and the thud of exploding bombs in the heart of London was replaced by a crescendo of sound and orange bursts of hundreds of shells," said the British Press Association.

"London had bared her teeth and was giving the raiders the hottest reception they had ever had. The old defenselessness was gone, together with the menacing, monotonous note of Germans flying with almost clocklike precision to unload their bombs. No longer could they keep to their course through that hail of fire. The noise was terrific, but for Londoners it was the right sort of noise."

Apparently this was London's answer to German threats to ferry 10,000 plane loads of bombs to this area daily.

Some Londoners thought they detected a different sound in the anti-aircraft fire, perhaps indicating a new type of gun.

A comparative absence of searchlights also gave rise to the belief that new tactics were employed. Formerly the British tried to pin the raiders with their searchlight beams, and then trained their guns on the target.

But apparently this "wait until you see the whites of their eyes" tactic was thrown overboard by frequent ability of the searchlights to penetrate clouds.

The British just blazed away. Broken shells peppered the roofs, and new, deadly stars burst everywhere in the sky.

A bomb burst a gas main in south London during the attack, and raiders used the flame as a beacon to drop four bombs around firemen.

Dubois Institutes Slander Case and Names Neighbors

Sherwood Corners Man
Names Gales; Would Recover for Damages
for His Arrest

An action for malicious prosecution and slander has been brought by Willard DuBois of Sherwood Corners, town of Shawangunk, against Joshua A. Gale and Amelia Gale, neighbors of the plaintiff.

The action is brought in county court by the plaintiff, DuBois, to recover for alleged damages which he suffered when the defendants had him arrested last May on charges of disorderly conduct. At that time Justice Seth Lippincott after hearing the case dismissed the complaint. The plaintiff alleges that accusations made there at the time of the trial in the Lippincott court room before several people have damaged his reputation. Remarks as to his honesty and other remarks made in the presence of witnesses, said Mr. DuBois, are grounds for his action.

"Peeking" Is Alleged

Throwing of a pocket-book on the Gale lawn and driveway and alleged "peeking" from behind trees and bushes at Mr. and Mrs. Gale were the basis for their swearing out a warrant of arrest on May 22, 1940. After the case had been presented Judge Lippincott dismissed the complaint on the grounds there was not sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

Judge Lippincott was the first witness called. He told the court and jury that on May 18, Mr. and Mrs. Gale appeared at his place and complained that a pocket-book about two by three inches in size had been repeatedly found on their premises and they charged that it came from the DuBois place. The judge told the court, he said, that not only had they been annoyed by the throwing of the pocket-book on their premises but that Mr. DuBois had "peeked" at them from behind trees and bushes when Mr. and Mrs. Gale were spraying trees on their land.

Judge Lippincott said he told them to go home and tell Mr. DuBois, whom they said had been seen once throwing the pocket-book to their premises, not to continue the practice and to endeavor to live in a neighborly fashion. Again they told him and he told them to tell DuBois that if the practice continued that a warrant of arrest would be secured. The Gales left and later returned and signed an information and asked for a warrant of arrest.

In Court in May

The warrant was executed and DuBois was brought to court on May 22, 1940, and a trial held. There, Judge Lippincott said, DuBois denied the charge. The warrant has issued to John Doe, the judge said, and on the stand DuBois denied having thrown the pocket-book on the Gale premises and denied having done anything which constituted disorderly conduct. After DuBois had testified Judge Lippincott said he gave the Gales an opportunity to cross-examine Mr. DuBois. It was during this act that the various charges were made against Mr. DuBois by the Gales.

Judge Lippincott said he had asked the Gales then if they ever saw Mr. DuBois throw the pocket-book on their premises and Mr. Gale said he never had. Judge Lippincott told the court and jury that prior to the arrest of Mr. DuBois, Mr. Gale had told him that he once saw the pocket-book thrown over the hedge by Mr. DuBois but this was denied at the trial.

On the completion of the testimony Judge Lippincott said he had deemed the evidence insufficient to sustain the charge and had dismissed the complaint.

The present action in County Court is brought by Mr. DuBois to recover from Mr. and Mrs. Gale for injuries suffered by him through the remarks made relative to his character and honesty at the time of the trial last May at Judge Lippincott's court room. There were several people present at the trial and Judge Lippincott said his court room was always open to the public during a trial.

The small change purse which Mr. and Mrs. Gale claim was the basis of their complaint of annoyance, was offered in evidence in court.

Judge Testifies

Judge Lippincott testified that Gale told him that the purse had repeatedly been found in the driveway and on the lawn and that it had been thrown back to the DuBois place or returned there several times. Only once had Gale said he had seen Mr. DuBois throw the purse over the hedge. The warrant was issued on May 22 after Mr. and Mrs. Gale returned from a trip to Newburgh and when they found the purse again on their property. The throwing of the purse and the "peeking" around the trees at them apparently constitute the acts of disorderly conduct upon which the warrant of arrest was issued. Mr. Gale made out the information upon which the warrant was based.

Michael Nordone appears for Mr. DuBois and Allen J. Indzonka, Jr., for the defendants Gale.

Aged Man Struck By Auto on 9-W

Jerry Johannsen, 65, Hit
While Walking on Road
Near Sversky Hotel

Jerry Johannsen, 65, who said he had been a resident at the City Home here but had no home, was rushed to the Kingston Hospital shortly before 10 o'clock this morning in the W. N. Conner ambulance, following an accident near the Sversky Hotel on route 9-W at Ulster Park.

At the hospital Johannsen was treated by Dr. Jack Lehner. Several ribs were fractured, his lung punctured and he received a severe scalp laceration, concussion and possible skull fracture. His condition was later reported as good.

State Trooper Whitney was summoned and found Johannsen had been struck as he walked along the road by the car of Max Katz of Brooklyn. Apparently Johannsen had become confused by traffic and started to cross the road after one car had passed and was struck by the Katz car. Katz was not arrested.

Johannsen told Deputy Sheriff Wesley O'Brien at the hospital that he had been walking south to look for a job picking apples when he stepped out on the road after a car had passed and a second car struck him. He said he had no home.

According to a police blotter notice, the local woman, who is known for her vocal talent, failed to stop for Officer Lemuel Howard at Fair and Main streets and was apprehended near the West Shore crossing on Broadway by Officers Kinch and Crosswell, who were in a radio car.

She was charged with having passed a "stop" sign and with operating a coupe, owned by Joseph Schwartz, of 295 Broadway, Newburgh, with four adults in the driving seat.

Morello Bail
Fixed at $5,000

Was Out on Bail of $2,500
on First Charge

John Morello of Kingston, arrested Wednesday morning on a charge of rape and assault, alleged to have been committed in the town of Ulster on September 8 when it is alleged he picked up a 15-year-old girl in Kingston and took her to the town of Ulster where the crime allegedly took place, has had bail fixed by County Judge A. J. Cook at $5,000. Morello was out on $2,500 bond at the time of the second arrest awaiting trial on a similar charge. Application was made to county court to fix the amount of bail and District Attorney N. LeVan Haver asked the court to fix the bail at $10,000 because of the circumstances. Judge Cook however set the amount at $5,000.

Men's Club Federation

The first regular meeting of the delegates of the Federation of Men's Clubs of the county will be held Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock. President Aaron Gray requests a good attendance since a large amount of business relative to winter activities will be disposed of.

Plans World Fair

Ilwaco, Wash. (AP)—This town of 900 insists there is going to be a world's fair in 1942, regardless of wars and that it's going to be right here. Acknowledging that Ilwaco cannot rival the New York or San Francisco expositions in size, Mayor Norman A. Howerton nevertheless asserts that the regular pattern of world's fairs will be followed. Help from both Congress and the state legislature is sought.

Recreations to Meet Saugerties Here Sunday Afternoon

Three-Game Series Will Be Played Starting on Sunday

Major Interest Is Expected for Entire Series; Both Teams Are at Their Full Strength

That long-awaited clash between Carl Husta's Kingston Recreations and the Saugerties A. C. will finally take place Sunday afternoon at municipal stadium when these two district aggregations meet for the first time this year.

After a near-completed baseball season rival managers and major league players agreed to a series of the other day and now preparations are being made to present one of the finest diamond series in local baseball. Kingston and Saugerties will clash this Sunday in Kingston and the following Sunday at Cantine Field in Saugerties.

Earlier in the campaign Saugerties had notified the Recreations that a series would be played but due to some misunderstanding the games were never played. About two weeks ago Manager Al Schultz, of the village club, issued a challenge in this publication concerning the negotiation of another series.

Both Are Confident

Kingston officials considered this second challenge very seriously. And at a recent confab the vote was in favor of accepting the formal invitation. As expected, both clubs have come out with predictions that their team will win.

With a series of this kind on tap local baseball interest should hit a new high. During the summer months when the Recs refused to play Sunday afternoon games due to poor attendance, some of the finest road attractions in the country were brought into Kingston for arclight games. The fans responded with unusual promptness.

By far the Saugerties club can't compare with the Baltimore Elite Giants, the Brooklyn Royals, House of David, the Black Yankees or the like. However, as far as interesting baseball is concerned the meeting of Kingston and Saugerties should give the individual spectator much more thrills than any of those night attractions.

In former seasons the Colonials, then under the guidance of Fred Davi, met Saugerties at least once a year. Keen rivalry always existed. Baseball fans came out watching what could be turned a "Giant-Dodger" classic. Year after year fans in this country have wanted these two clubs to go into battle.

This year Saugerties, with the addition of a few new faces, has started to climb up the baseball ladder. For a change the village team is really presenting some good ball players. So far during the present campaign the club has won the majority of its games and is really looking forward to the clash with Kingston.

On the other hand, the Recreations have also been coming along nicely. A few defeats now and then but still the Colonial City representatives have given their followers some great ball playing. On the whole the 1940 series between Kingston and Saugerties should be a corker.

Keen Competition

While both teams have come through with interesting records all season another vital point will be the competition of individual players. A couple of the Saugerties players tried out for the Recreations in spring training but failed to make the grade. Right now these athletes are helping to make Saugerties one of the best teams in this section.

Starting off for Saugerties Sunday afternoon will be "Bing" Van Ethen, Rivenberg, Simonites and Charlie Francello in the infield. Van Ethen and Francello were two of the players in line for jobs with the Colonials last year. Van Ethen saw service in a few games. Rivenberg, by no means a stranger to Kingston fans, is an air-tight key-stone sacker.

In the outfield, Desmond, Keenan and Swart will hold tight. All three are exceptionally fine defensive players and acceptable batters. In the pitching department Saugerties can boast of two fine moundsmen. Eddie Wallace, a favorite in Kingston, and Lefty "Rosey" Rosenstein, will be on hand to take the heat.

In Kingston's camp, now bustling with excitement, Manager Carl Husta will have his full team on hand for the first game of the series which is slated for three games. Jack Schatzel, George "Red" McLean, Andy Celuch and Chappie Van Derzee will patrol the infield. Mac Tiano, Bill Thomas and Vince Smedes or possibly Vince Stoll, will start on the picket line. Bob Bush, Rowie Brooks and Charlie Neff are the starting flingers. George Zadany and Joe Hoffman will be ready for catching duties.

For a fading baseball season this series should be a great tonic. With the announcement of the series in Saugerties yesterday the baseball followers of that club made known that a large delegation of fans would be in Kingston Sunday afternoon to watch this battle-royal.

Homers in National

May Set New High

Paced by Johnny Mize, of the St. Louis Cardinals, home run production in the National League this year promises to set a new high for the past 10 years. When Mize hit his 39th of the season, he surpassed the highest previous record set since Hack Wilson, of the Chicago Cubs, established the all-time National League mark of 56 in 1930.

Best since then was the 38 set jointly by Mel Ott, of the New York Giants, and Chuck Klein, of the Phillies, in 1932. The upsurge in senior circuit power-hitting also shows in the fact that for the first time in many years 3 Long Rangers have already hit homers in every National League park, with the possibility of 3 or 4 more joining the ranks of All-Around Homer-Hitters before the curtain falls on the 1940 season.

Mize and Frank McCormick, of the Cincy Reds, became the first to achieve their complete set of homers on August 13, when Johnny hit one in Chicago and young "Mac" circuit-clouted in Pittsburgh. The third member of the All-Arounders is Dolph Camilli, who chalked up Pittsburgh, his last stop on August 25.

Last year big Bee West and Hank Lieber shared the all-around crown. In 1939 it was a tie between Mel Ott and Johnny Rizzo. Mize was undisputed king in 1937, but that year the National League had no all-around homer until the last day of the season, last time at bat for Mize. Ott was the lone all-arounder of 1936 and Wally Berger was the 1935's sole master of all orchards.

With 3 fair names already registered and more perhaps to follow, 1940 marks a new peak in all-around homer-hitting in baseball's senior major league, indicating that the power-drive made by every club over the past 5 years has begun to bear important fruit in the box scores and the league standing.

New Iron Master Is Byron Nelson

Building Reputation as One of Greatest Golfers

Tommy Armour, the old master, has nominated Byron Nelson as the young master of golfing irons. It was with his irons that Byron submerged Craid Wood and Denny Shute in the play-off for the 1939 U. S. national open championship and it was by the same weapons he defeated Sam Snead in the recent 1940 P.G.A. championship at Hershey, Pa.

Nelson was somewhat off the bullseye with his woods in the titanic 36-hole match with Snead, but always, in the crises, he was able to make his irons atone for errors from the tee. Not only was he deadly with long irons but several times made his wedge plant the ball within birdie range of the cups.

The gangling Texan rapidly is building a record as one of the greatest modern golfers. Last year he was the game's outstanding performer, winning the U. S. National and Western Open and the Masters and carrying Henry Picard 37 holes in the P.G.A. finale. Although handicapped by ill health last winter, Nelson won the Texas open and finished so well in many other events that currently he is third among the year's leading money winners and fourth in the P.G.A. Harry Vardon Memorial standings.

Big Field Ready For Rifle Shot

Letter From President Roosevelt Is Prize

Camp Perry, O., Sept. 12 (AP)—One of rifledom's most coveted prizes—a personal letter of commendation from the President of the United States—was up for decision today at the national matches.

A field of 1,625 of the country's high bracket .30 caliber marksmen entered the 30-shot event, which called for 10 shots slow fire standing at 200 yards, 10 shots prone at 600 yards, and 10 prone at 1,000 yards.

The event was open only to the service rifles, the bolt action Springfield and the new Garand semi-automatic. Sergt. Thomas Jones of the marines, who scored 147 of 150 to win last year, is entered. No one has won the event twice in the last three decades.

Women Bowlers Hold 1st Meeting

League Will Be Open Only to Parish Members

The St. Peter's Ladies' Bowling League held its first fall meeting Monday evening. The session was called to order by President Miss Margaret Mellert.

It was announced that the league would be open only to parishioners of St. Peter's. As all the ladies who have expressed a desire to join the league this year were not present, the number of teams was not decided upon.

Another meeting will be held Monday, Sept. 16 at 8 o'clock at which time the captains will select their teams and team names. All the ladies who wish to bowl in this loop are requested to be present or to give their names to one of the officers.

Officers of the league are: President, Miss Margaret Mellert; Mrs. John Zeeh, secretary, and Miss Beatrice M. Sweeney, treasurer.

Four Golfers Are Leading Field in Amateur Golf Play

Sweetser, Fischer, Ward and Turnesa Retain a Hold in Tourney; Billows Listed

Mamaroneck, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Three former champions and the present titleholder, Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., still were in there pitching as the surviving 16 went at it again today in the national amateur golf championship at Winged Foot Club.

Two of the ex-champs—Jess Sweetser, '22, and Johnny Fischer, '36—were paired in the first of the day's two 18-hole rounds. Willie Turnesa, 1938 winner, also turned back his first two opponents yesterday.

The only highly regarded player missing after the frightful carnage of the first two rounds was Art Doering of Chicago. Ranked in the second group of hot contenders, right behind Ward, Doering failed to get going and was rocked out in the first skirmish by Otto Greiner of Baltimore, 5 and 4.

Ray Billows of Foughkeepsie, runner-up two in three years, still was among those present, though he had a narrow escape when he had to go 63 holes to eliminate Bill Dear, Jr., of West Orange, N. J., in his morning match.

Wilford Wehrle of Chicago, who the professionals say is the most mechanically perfect player among the amateurs, still was around. Also Frank Stafaci of Great Neck, N. Y.; Pat Abbott of Pasadena; Dick Chapman of Winged Foot, tournament medalist; Maurice Mc-Carthy, Jr., Cincinnati star; George Dawson of Chicago and John Burke of Rye, N. Y.—all well known to the national scene. Only the remaining four survivors might be termed "outsiders," and each of them owns a high sectional rating. Tom Sheehan, Jr., of Northville, Mich., last year's medalist; Greiner, conqueror of Doering; W. B. McCullough, Jr., of Abingdon, Pa., and Harry Haverstick, Jr., of Lancaster, Pa., comprised the quartet that confounded the experts slightly.

Chicago Cub virtuosos have turned in one-third of all the two-hit pitching jobs in the National League this year, one each by French, Passeau and Olsen.

Champion Two-Miler
Louisville (AP)—Four times each working day for the past 35 years, John J. Barry, publisher of the Kentucky Irish-American, has walked the two miles between his home and office. Barry figures he has walked more than 85,000 miles back and forth.

Dixie Walker, fleet-footed fly-chaser whose personal September Drive aims to bring Brooklyn its first National League batting champion since Lefty O'Doul eight years ago, is the only major league star with a butler on his household staff. Dix's man, John Shepard, is a family retainer of dusky hue from back home in Birmingham. He not only butters but is chief cook, yard man, car-polisher and pinch chauffeur.

Tigers Slam Red Sox While Indians and Yankees Split; Bengals Lead by Slim Edge

Bronx Bombers Trail the Pace-Setters by Full Game; Reds Sweep Two From Bees

(By The Associated Press)

The hysterical finish of the American League is being compared with the customary September struggle of the National League, but it isn't the same. There's no crackup in the wild, breath-taking battle that's going on now in the junior circuit, which never has known anything like this in its 40-year history.

For a week, three strong clubs have been grappling for first place, always within a couple of games, or less of each other, and today the whole mess is just as unathomable as it has been for days.

The Detroit Tigers clawed their way back to the top yesterday by overpowering the Boston Red Sox, 11-7, while the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees divided a doubleheader.

Actually, the three tremendous tussles left the standings in the form they were in Tuesday:

	W	L	Pct.	GB	1P
Detroit	77	58	.574	1/2	19
Cleveland	77	58	.574	1/2	19
New York	76	58	.567	1	20
Boston	73	63	.537	5	18

Today, Detroit defends its lead against the world champion Yankees in the first of a three-game series, while the Red Sox and Indians open a similar set in Cleveland. Something is bound to come out of these games, because no one has figured out a satisfactory way to divide three games.

It looked for a while yesterday as though the Yankee parade were about to win the prize right away. Rookie Ernie Bonham beat Bob Feller, 3-1, in a desperate pitching duel, each giving five hits. It was the fifth straight win for Bonham, who didn't let a man get to first after the third inning.

An idea of the kind of pitching he has been doing for the Yanks can be gained from the fact he hasn't walked a single batter in the last three games and hasn't allowed more than eight hits in the last five.

Bonham Wins Again

The Yanks banged out two runs in the first inning of the nightcap, but the pentup Indians routed Red Ruffing with five runs in the third and won, 5-3, when darkness halted play in the sixth.

Detroit had the kind of a ding-dong game you would expect when the Tigers and Red Sox collide. There were 32 hits off eight pitchers, and the lead teetered until Hank Greenberg hit his 31st homer with one on in the last of the fifth.

The Chicago White Sox caught up with Dutch Leonard, who had handcuffed them five times, and whipped the Washington Senators, 7-4, with a 14-hit assault led by Joe Kuhel.

Elden Auker and George Caster put on a pitching performance rivaling that of Feller and Bonham, each allowing five hits, but the St. Louis Browns' hits included a homer, two triples and a double and they shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0.

The Cincinnati Reds increased their lead in the National League to nine full games by sweeping a doubleheader from the Boston Bees, 8-0 and 3-1, while the Brooklyn Dodgers were losing a pair to the Chicago Cubs, 8-5 and 3-2. Bucky Walters pitched four-hit ball in the opener, and Paul Derringer scattered six in the nightcap. It was the 19th victory for each.

Dizzy Dean stalked back into the National League by hurling scorching ball for the Cubs' second triumph over the Dodgers. But his sidearm stuff looked about the same as that which he used last spring before going to Tulsa in the Texas League to try to cure his arm trouble. He had good control and varying speed, but none of it like his former fast one.

The slugging St. Louis Cardinals roused the New York Giants twice, 7-4 and 3-2, getting 17 hits in the opener and taking the nightcap on Terry Moore's home run in the ninth inning.

The Pittsburgh Pirates crushed the Phillies, 9-3, with a five-run flurry in the ninth.

Another Father Celebrates

Los Angeles, Sept. 12 (AP)—Just as Lou Novikoff, Los Angeles outfielder and leading batter of the Pacific Coast League, came to bat in the fourth inning last night, the loud speaker blared that his wife had given birth to a daughter. The fans cheered and "Pop" Novikoff responded with a line single to left. He will report to the Chicago Cubs next season.

Battle-Royal Is Expected to Result In Detroit Today

Tigers and Yankees Are Ready for Big Three Game Series; Home Club Has Edge

Detroit, Sept. 12 (AP)—Pennant fever gripped Detroit's baseball thousands today as the New York Yankees came to town for a three-game "make or break" series.

Realizing that the championship hopes of both teams were at stake the faithful took up the battle cry, "stop the Yanks."

Long lines of fans formed at the ticket windows to obtain pasted boards for the series and the Tiger management announced its advance sale for Saturday's game already had exceeded that for any other single contest this season.

The scene was almost a repetition of Detroit's pennant-winning days of 1934 and 1935, even to the Tiger pitching choice. Back in those days, Schoolboy Rowe was usually called upon to stop the Yanks, and it was the Schoolboy, hero of one baseball's greatest comebacks this year, whom Manager Del Baker picked to do the job today.

There was a possibility that Baker might switch at the last minute to Tommy Bridges, but the Bridges, the only other Tiger pitcher who was with the club five years ago, would hardly detract from the illusion.

Marius Russo, 26-year-old south-paw, was slated to bear the Yankee mound burden.

The Detroiters have a 12 to 7 edge over the Yankees in the 19 games and the two clubs have played this season, but the last time they met the Yankees swept three straight games in New York and sent the Tigers tumbling five and a half games out of first place.

Right-Thinking People

Pleasureville, Ky. (AP)—Every person attending the Baptist church in this town of 300 sits on the right-hand side. The custom has been observed so long that even the oldest members are unable to remember exactly how it started. However, the most plausible reason is that the church was constructed to seat almost twice as many persons as there are in the congregation, and the members began sitting together on one side to avoid being scattered over the large room. Pews on the left-hand side are practically new.

Ironie note in the all-around home-run hitting department. John Rizzo, runnerup to Johnny Mize for the National League home run championship, has hit homers in every park in the league this year except Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. Two years ago, as a Pirate, "Ritzzy" hit more homers in Forbes Field than any other National League slugger.

One reason for Brooklyn's tenuous hold of high rank in the National League race all season is that no pitcher in the league succeeded in getting a stranglehold on their bats. Paul Derringer is the only National League ace with 4 decisions over the Dodgers.

Plans were discussed regarding activities as well as definite programs outlined for the coming winter and a splendid spirit of co-operation was manifested. The theme for the worship program is "Witnesses of the Light." The home subject, "Move on Youth," will be studied at some of the program meetings as well as missionary plays and dramatizations given.

The October meeting will be in the form of a progressive supper with the following Guild girls acting as hostesses, for various courses. Miss Virginia Van Der Mark and K. Powell, Laura Parsells and Jeanne Terwilliger, Helen Hogan and Helen Wolter assisted by Mrs. Wright as counselor.

The treasurer reported a substantial sum of money with which to begin the fall work, a large portion of which will be used for missions, a conference fund as well as a sum of money voted for the necessary repair work on the church property. The usual White Cross work will be resumed this coming winter. The Guild is composed of 14 active girls.

Moon and Tide to Be In Fuehrer's Favor

London, Sept. 12 (AP)—The moon and tide will be in Adolf Hitler's favor for several days running next week if he should decide to try to invade England.

Authoritative sources, basing their predictions on the nautical almanac, said the highest tide for the period is scheduled for 1:03 p. m. Wednesday, September 18, induced by a full moon. Monday, Wednesday's high tide at Dover is expected to reach 18 feet, 6 inches, compared with a low of 14 feet.

A four-foot difference, these sources remarked, "makes an awful lot of difference." It would, for example, enable some boats to get perhaps a quarter of a mile closer to shore.

Time Bomb Found Near St. Paul

Workmen Risk Their Lives to Remove Explosive From Cathedral

London, Sept. 12 (AP)—A delayed action bomb similar to that which exploded Tuesday in a wing of Buckingham Palace has been found in the precincts of historic St. Paul's Cathedral in the heart of London.

St. Paul's, masterpiece of the 17th century architect, Sir Christopher Wren, was menaced by fire a few days ago when German air raiders dropped incendiary bombs on warehouses nearby. Its great dome, modeled after that of St. Peter's in Rome, is a London landmark.

When the bomb, dropped by a German raider, was discovered workmen immediately took their lives in their hands in efforts to save the cathedral from serious damage.

They roped off a danger zone some distance from the cathedral to keep back the crowd of curious. Police patrolled the scene.

The crowds, standing far off, could see only pigeons fluttering about the ancient dome and small groups of workers moving to and fro on the pavement.

Out of sight engineers were working. A policeman was asked what they were doing about the bomb.

"All I know is that they're working on it," he replied.

"How big is it?" "Some say it's a 500-pounder," the policeman said grimly.

"They've been dropping big stuff on this neighborhood, but you can't tell how big this one is because I understand it's buried."

A bystander summed up Londoners' feeling about the threat to the old cathedral:

"Nothing better happened to St. Paul's," he said, "it'll be just too bad what we do to them."

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

School No. 6 The opening meeting of School No. 6, P.T.A. was held on Tuesday afternoon, September 10, at 3:45 o'clock. There was a large attendance. An amateur show was announced to be given in November, half of the proceeds to be donated to the Red Cross.

The officers and many members who wish to do so, will attend a session of the 44th annual P.T.A. conference at Albany, October 8, at the Hotel Ten Eyck.

An interesting and inspiring panel discussion by the following men completed the program: Rabbi Herbert Bloom, Eugene Carey, Dr. Keator, Superintendent Arthur Laidlaw and Assistant City Judge Mingo. The topic discussed was "What Is Civic Responsibility?"

Each spoke from his own point of view professionally, attempting to show the responsibility shared and the relationship of each to the solving of the problem of making good citizens of America of the youth of today.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the hospital committee.

The Lake Katrine P.T.A. will hold a combined community picnic and hobby show Friday evening at 6 o'clock in the Lake Katrine school house. Hobbies of

Guard Units Need About 75 Recruits

Exact Number Will Be Made Known When Final Discharges Are Made

Approximately 75 recruits will be required to bring the two local units of the 156th Field Artillery up to required strength before the units leave for Fort Dix, N. J., shortly after September 16.

Men will be required by both the Headquarters Battery and Combat Train and Battery A to bring the units to full strength required under army regulations.

The exact number of men required will not be known until all discharges of ineligible men have been effected.

Several members of the units have been discharged because of the fact they have dependents and others who were not 18 years of age have been allowed to go. Fifteen men have been discharged from Battery A and it will be necessary to replace these men and also recruit the battery up to the 99 men required under Regular Army regulations. Headquarters Battery will require slightly less since the strength of that battery is approximately 83 men.

Mobilization orders call for the men to report at the local armory on September 16 and physical examinations will begin immediately. It is anticipated several members will be discharged because of some physical disability and these men will have to be replaced. Recruiting for the two local batteries will begin on Tuesday, September 17, and several local youths are waiting for the order to be issued for recruits.

As soon as the physical examinations are over and the required "paper work" has been completed the batteries will move to Fort Dix to begin a year of intensive training. Whether the units will remain there for the entire time is not known. The move to Fort Dix must be made within 10 days after the date of mobilization and it is expected that the 156th Regiment will probably move well within that time.

Capt. Ernest A. Steuding in command of Battery A, requests that members of the unit bring birth certificates to establish their age.

Col. Huddelson of Newburgh recently announced the promotion of First Lieut. Harold V. Clayton of this city to a captain and stated that Lieut. Clayton would serve as regimental adjutant. The actual promotion and commission to captain will probably be received by Lieut. Clayton prior to the mobilization or shortly thereafter. Lieut. Clayton will report at Regimental Headquarters in Newburgh on September 16, the date of mobilization.

Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, is under command of Capt. F. L. Coombs.

Youth Is Jailed Following Ruse on Newark Motorist

Albert Salvo, 22, Is Held in Default of $500 Bail for Impersonation of Officer

Charged with impersonating an officer and alleged to have taken $10 from Leopold Freudberg, Newark, N. J., theatrical producer, on a trumped up charge of traffic violation, Albert Salvo, 22, who gave his address as East Kingston, was arrested yesterday by Troopers Reilly and Judge and Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg.

Salvo, who is a native of Stockton, Cal., was arraigned before Justice Percy Bush of the town of Ulster. He pleaded not guilty and in default of $500 bail was held at the Ulster county jail pending a hearing later.

The complaint against Salvo, which started a four-days' investigation by the B.C.I. men, and men from the sheriff's office, was made to Trooper Reilly Saturday night, by Freudberg. The latter, driving through Kingston on his way to Hunter accompanied by Mrs. Carl, proprietor of a boarding house at that place, said that he had been stopped near the intersection of the Saugerties road and the bypass by a man who purported to be a deputy sheriff and wore a deputy's badge.

Freudberg said that the alleged deputy told him that he had violated the traffic law in passing another car at the wrong place and could be held for grand jury action. Freudberg said that the man refused to give his name and that finally he took $10 from him and allowed him to go.

Following the call from Hunter a search for the man was begun by Troopers Reilly and Judge, Trooper Drescher of the Saugerties road patrol and Deputy Sheriff McCullough, but no trace could be found of him.

Wednesday morning Deputy McCullough noticed Salvo standing along the road and because of his similarity to the man wanted questioned him. He made no arrest, however, but later Salvo was brought to the court house for questioning. Word was sent to Freudberg, who came up from New Jersey and promptly identified Salvo as the man who stopped him. Mrs. Carr came down from Hunter and she, too, identified the man.

Trooper Reilly said that he had arrested Salvo in 1936 on a second degree forgery charge and that at that time he pleaded guilty and was given a suspended sentence to Elmira Reformatory.

DIVORCED PARENTS CREATE COMPLICATED SITUATIONS AT MARRIAGE OF THEIR CHILDREN.

Replying to a Reader, Mrs. Post Says that the Desired Wedding Arrangements Depend Upon the Father's Pride.

Divorced parents are bound to create some complications in the making of arrangements for a wedding. But the real complication, described in the letter from the mother of a bride, is the fact that her daughter wants to be married in the beautiful old house, which once belonged to her father's family, and where she and her daughter now live. "The old house would," she admits, "make a lovely setting for a wedding. But I don't see how her father can be included in any way if she is married at home. I would like to make her happy by helping her carry out her plans which are to be married here, and to have her father give her away. Could this be possible, Mrs. Post?"

A very few years ago the propriety of having her father go to a house wedding given by you would have been scandalous, let alone the thought of stirring up old ashes by having him return to a house that was once his own and that is still occupied by his ex-wife! Today, however, the appearance of divorced parents at a wedding is no longer shocking, and it is considered the concern of none but themselves. If her father is willing to go to the house on this occasion, walk up the aisle with her and give her in marriage, this should not be criticized by anyone. But if he himself is unwilling to enter your house, then the probable answer is that his daughter will not refuse to be married in the church. The answer depends upon his willingness to forget his own feelings in order to make his daughter happy.

"All Around Girl" Dear Mrs. Post: What does the description "all around girl" mean to you? Does it include a girl's ability to play at every sport—and not necessarily excelling at any—and to keep her head higher than average in her school work? Or does it include more qualities than that?

Answer: I would say that the qualities that an "all around girl" should possess are as follows: She should have a knowledge of and live up to, the exactions of sportsmanship—this alone should indicate general popularity with girls as well as boys; she should stand a little above average in her school work; and she should have more than average enthusiasm for all branches of activity. In other words, she is an out-going, friendly, cooperative person—and above all she is completely natural!

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend and neighbor of ours is to be married in church. She is wearing clothes suitable for going away immediately and there will be no reception given for them until after they return from their wedding trip. How then, can friends shower them with rice and confetti if they are supposed to keep their seats in church until the wedding principals and the immediate families have left the church?

Answer: I don't see how they can! (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Indian Woman Defies

Courts, Rebuilds Barrier

ALLEGANY INDIAN RESERVATION, N. Y.—An Indian woman defied federal and state court orders directing removal of a barricade she erected to "keep palefaces off my tribal property" and rebuilt the barbed wire fence after it was torn down by United States marshals.

Mrs. Elbia Van Aernam, a Seneca, built the fence some time ago, to keep several white families from using Ten Mile road. She contended that the state-maintained dirt lane was on her land and that neither she nor her ancestors ever had been paid for its use.

Before they tore down the barricade federal authorities attempted futilely to serve the writs on Mrs. Van Aernam. The writs, issued on petition of the whites, then were nailed to her door. As the marshals left the Indian woman strode out of her house and shouted:

"I've got lots of wire, and I'll keep on putting up fences as many times as you take 'em down." Then she set to work stringing up the new barricade.

Although wrens have their headquarters in tropical America they are found as far north as Greenland.

Ward's 68th Anniversary Sale Is Drawing Crowds

Manager Russell S. Keiter of the local Montgomery Ward store was in good humor Wednesday afternoon, the immediate cause being the steady stream of customers that were visiting the store in response to the 68th anniversary sale announcement. The sale started Wednesday and lasts for 10 days and during that time worthwhile reductions are in effect on merchandise in all departments. Attention was called to numerous articles where discounts of from 10 to 35 per cent were being made from regular normal prices.

Mr. Keiter said that last year was the first that the Ward Company ran an anniversary sale, but it was such an overwhelming success that they are making it a regular feature. One reason is that it comes at a time when buyers are looking for fall and winter merchandise and eagerly take advantage of the savings. Wednesday the local store, even with increased sales force, was kept busy serving customers.

Business generally at the Kingston Ward store is reported to be most satisfactory. Manager Keiter said that stocks carried are larger and more varied than ever and dollar volume of business is steadily increasing. In fact, he said, there has been an increase every month in dollar volume since he came to Kingston a year ago last April.

More than 50 per cent of the asphalt produced is used in highway construction.
